Marshall Promises Invasion of Europe

TELLS CADETS ARMY TO LAND ON CONTINENT

Chief of Staff Reveals U. S. To Have 4,500,000 Soldiers By End of Year.

TALKS AT WEST POINT

General Declares There Can Be No Compromise With Axis Powers.

(By Associated Press)

WEST POINT, N. Y.—An invasion of the European continent was promised today by General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, who told the West Point graduating class that American troops "are landing in England, and they will land in France."

Marshall said the army would total nearly 4,500,000 men by the end of this year, instead of the previously announced estimate of 3,600,000. During the past four weeks alone, said the chief of staff, the army has grown by 300,000 men.

"Your utmost endeavor, backed by high and unselfish purpose, will be required to bring this struggle to a triumphant conclusion," he told the graduating cadets.

"No compromise is possible, and the victory of the democracies can only be complete with the utter defeat of the war machines of Germany and Japan."

Gaining significance in view of the current discussions of high ranking American army officers with British officials in London, Marshall's assertion that American forces "will land in France," was the first definite statement by any American official that a ground offensive against the continent was part of American-British strategy.

Receive Top Honors at Class Day Program

Four girls made a clean sweep of top honors at Class day exercises for the June graduating class of Mansfield Senior high school today. Shown in the center photo, Patricia Ann Hieber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo W. Hieber, Springmill road, carried off first honors, and in addition, received the University club Frank Hanson award as the most outstanding girl in both the June and January graduating classes. At top left is Ruby Jean Walimire, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Weigler, 174 West Third street, who won second honors. Tying for third honors were, top right, Winifred Elaine Bauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ora M. Bauer, 61 Clifton avenue, and lower left, Helen Lloyd Meihack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Meihack, 1001 Park avenue west. Shown in the photo at lower right is William Seward Dietrichson, son of Mrs. Martha S. Dietrichson, 93 Glenwood boulevard, who won the University club Frank Hanson award as the most outstanding boy in the June and January graduating classes.

MEMORIAL DAY TRIBUTE FOR WAR DEAD SET

Parade To Highlight Program Concluding With Exercises at Cemetery.

STARTS AT 2:15 P. M.

2,000 Expected To March In Procession; Ceremony at Park in Morning.

Old Glory will wave and bands will play tomorrow as Mansfield honors its war dead and its fighting men of today in the city's observaance of the first Memorial Day since America's entry into the new world war.

Because so many of the city's sons now are scattered on the far-flung battlegrounds of the present conflict, the day will have more far-reaching significance than any other Memorial Day in a quarter of a century. For this reason, too, the program arranged for the day is the most extensive in years.

Graves of soldiers will be decorated, as in former years. The strains of "taps" will sound for sleeping warriors at cemetery ceremonies. And, as usual, the high point of the day will be the community parade, in which this year some 2,000 will march. There will be four bands and two drum corps. A squadron of airplanes will fly over the city during the parade.

The parade will move at 2:15 p. m., originating at Park avenue at Mulberry, proceeding east on Park to Main, south on Main street to Chestnut, and east on Chestnut to the cemetery. There an elaborate program will be staged, except in event of rain, in which case the exercises will be held in the First Lutheran church.

There will be morning services, too. The Memorial Day observance committee will place emblems and wreaths at the cemetery at 10:30 a. m. At 11 a. m., the American Legion, its auxiliary,

British Hold; Hitler Leading Kharkov Fight

Fuehrer Takes Over As Red Artillery Pours Shells On Ukraine City.

(By International News Service)

The Berlin radio confirmed today that Adolf Hitler himself has again taken personal command of fighting on the Kharkov front.

A spokesman for the German high command declared: "We look to his genius as a strategist to bring about full victory."

This coincided with reports from Istanbul that the fuehrer is about to launch another purge of Nazi officials. Gen. Walther Von Brauchitsch, commander-in-chief, once before removed from his post when the Russian campaign bogged down last fall, was said to be under arrest with 14 other high Nazi officials.

The Istanbul report received wide credence because two top members of the Nazi clique resigned from their jobs this week "for reasons of health"—the usual explanation when Hitler aides are fired. They were Railway Minister Kleinmann and Minister of Agriculture Walther Darre.

As Hitler took over full command of the Russian campaign the Red armies of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko were reported bringing Kharkov under heavy artillery fire and launching smashing drives to the south where the Germans drove a wedge in the Izyum-Barvenkovo sector.

A Swedish report, admittedly unconfirmed, said the Russians had wiped out two Rumanian divisions and strong German forces in this area after destroying 100 Nazi tanks in a smashing attack.

A Soviet drive north of Izyum established a bridgehead on the west bank of the Donets river, a Vichy report said. Then Timoshenko set up 100 anti-aircraft guns and held the bridge against fierce German air attacks while

RAF Slashes Enemy As Desert War Flares Across Libyan Sands.

(By Associated Press)

CAIRO—A German armored force was repulsed today after slipping around British positions as far as Sidi Rezegh, 50 miles inside the British defensive system in the Libyan desert.

At Sidi Rezegh, one of the main battlefields of last winter's campaign, the Germans were met by a British armored force. There is heavy fighting, almost entirely by tanks in a 50-mile-wide belt between there and Ain El Gazala, region of the westerly British land positions.

No fixed British land positions have been taken in the fighting which broke out with an advance eastward by Axis armored forces late Tuesday night.

The opening attack on Bir Hacheim, 50 miles southwest of the British stronghold of Tobruk, was launched by Italian tanks.

The defenders were Free French forces who reported they destroyed at least 35 Italian tanks in repulsing this assault.

A German column which bypassed Bir Hacheim to the south, consisted of some 250 tanks from the 15th and 21st panzer divisions.

Since the apparent frustration of their original plan, which seemed to be a sweep toward Tobruk, the German formations have tended to split up.

British headquarters evinced confidence, and the situation was regarded as satisfactory, with indications that developments have not gone as the Germans anticipated.

It was noted, however, that in a battle of this extremely elastic type the situation can change rapidly either way.

The Free French who took the first brunt of the Italian attack are members of the "Bataillon

PARTY BARRED

Sweeney Will Deny Communists Place on Ohio Ballot.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Secretary of State John Sweeney indicated today he would bar the Communist party from a place on Ohio's election ballot.

A formal ruling is expected next Tuesday on applications of the Communist party and the Socialist-Labor party for ballot positions. There was no indication that action would be taken on the Socialist-Labor application.

Sweeney said Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle's decision in the Bridges deportation case probably would be one of the factors motivating his ruling in denying the Communist party a place on the ballot alongside the Republican and Democratic parties.

Biddle held the Communist party "believes in, advises, advocates, or teaches the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States."

WLB Decrees Pay Increase at Chase Brass Company.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The war labor board today ordered a blanket wage increase of four cents an hour at the Cleveland mill of the Chase Brass and Copper company.

The order, affecting about 1,600 workers, settled a dispute between the company and the International Association of Machinists, A. F. of L., which had asked a flat increase of 10 cents an hour.

NAMES 280 TO DEFENSE POSTS

County Civilian Chairman Appoints Committees For Townships, Villages.

Richland county's civilian defense organization was completed today with the appointment of 280 committeemen in 15 township districts and six villages.

The appointments were made by chairmen of boards of township trustees and village mayors and must be confirmed by Gov. John W. Bricker before the committees go into action.

Ray Hout, county defense chairman, said he would forward the names to Columbus today and expected confirmation early next week. A meeting of all the chairmen will be called within the next two weeks, Hout said. A state civilian defense leader will be here to outline the program for the committeemen, he added.

Hout said he had hoped to limit the township districts to nine, but

FIRES CONVOY

RAF Attacks Axis Ships, Raids French Airfields.

LONDON—(AP)—British bombers were reported officially to have fired four ships in an Axis convoy off the Dutch Coast in wide-spread night operations, and relays of RAF planes swept high and low across the Strait of Dover to northern France today.

The air ministry announced that German air fields and railway targets in northern France were attacked by bombers last night.

Girl Grad Hangs Up Senior High Scholarship Record

Patricia Ann Hieber, Completing 22 Study Units With Only 16 Required, Wins First Honors.

Completing more units of study than any previous Mansfield Senior high school graduate, Patricia Ann Hieber carried off first scholastic honors today when Class day exercises were held at the school for the June graduating class of 308 members.

Shutting out boys for top honors, the next three highest ranking pupils were also girls. Ruby Jean Walimire won second honors, while Winifred Elaine Bauer and Helen Lloyd Meihack tied for third honors.

Miss Hieber completed 22 units of study during her four years in high school. School officials said that a few previous graduates had piled up totals of 20 or 21 units. Pupils must complete 16 units for graduation.

In addition to winning highest scholastic honors Miss Hieber received the University club Frank Hanson award as the most outstanding girl in both the January and June graduating classes; and the mathematics medal presented by the Student Representative Council.

Honorable mention for scholastic achievement went to the following boys: Fred Elder, jr., Charles Parker Long, William Dietrichson, Clarence Todd Strohmenger, Frederick Morey, Robert Perry, Robert Stevenson, Robert Schoenman, Neland J. Longshore, Leopold Adams, Earl Turner and Donald Arnold.

Girls receiving honorable mention were Ellen Smith, Gertrude

Roosevelt Says Illiteracy Bars Vast Number From Army

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt said today there is a startling number of people in this country whose mental level is so low that it bars them from military service.

He gave no specific figures, but told his press conference government experts are studying plans to sharpen the wits of these people to the point that they might be of some military use.

The president said he had discussed the situation Wednesday with Dr. John Studebaker, U. S. Commissioner of Education, and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director.

Illiteracy, in a broad sense, has kept multitiudes out of the army and navy, he said.

It's not because these men are morons, the president said, but because of lack of opportunity and lack of education they are unfit for military and naval services.

MAYOR GIVEN POLICE PROTEST

Officer of State Brotherhood Criticizes Locke's Action To Bar Reporter.

Summoning of four city policemen yesterday by Mayor W. J. Locke to guard his office against News-Journal reporters seeking an interview, brought the mayor a protest today from E. A. Bellevue, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers.

Bellevue saw the mayor this morning and said that he had requested Locke "to leave the police out of this." The brotherhood secretary called on Locke in connection with other business, he said, but took the occasion to request that "the police department be left out of the whole affair."

Yesterday, Mayor Locke called four of the nine city policemen on duty to evict William F. Murray, News-Journal city hall reporter, and to guard against his return. Murray was attempting to see Locke to learn the status of the priority rating for the fire pumper which the city wishes to purchase.

Massillon Man Sentenced For Beating Up Cop.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Floyd Southard, 21, of Massillon, today began serving a six months' sentence in the Columbus workhouse and was assessed a $200 fine on a charge he beat up Police Corporal Alva Boystel six weeks ago.

Corporal Boystel said Southard attacked him after his arrest for disregarding a traffic signal.

BOARD LOSES

Draft Officials Rule Union Teacher Must Stay in 1-A.

The Union Rural board of education apparently had lost to Uncle Sam today in its fight to keep the army from taking Edward Strickling, the school's vocational teacher.

The board protested vigorously to Strickland's draft board in Coshocton county when he was given a 1-A classification, making him eligible for immediate call. Vocational teachers are essential to the nation's war program and difficult to replace, the board argued.

But Strickling was informed today by the draft board that the board's plea has been denied and he is still classed as 1-A.

Strickling, who came to the Union school last year, was married recently to a teacher who is still holding her job.

DEBT MOUNTS

U. S. Owes More Than 74 Billions as Month Closes.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The federal debt passed $74,000,000,000 today. During May treasury borrowing totaled approximately $3,500,000,000, a new record for any month in American history.

The treasury said its total obligations, including direct debt and guaranteed securities of government corporations, reached $74,051,902,287 this week, nearly $20,000,000,000 more than the debt of a year ago.

DUKE IN U. S.

Windsor Hopes To Confer With FDR On Bahamas Defense.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. —(U.P.)— The Duke of Windsor, who arrived yesterday from Nassau, hoped today to confer with President Roosevelt on the "mutual defense of the United States and the Bahamas."

The Duke, who is governor of the Bahamas, and his Duchess, the former Wallis Warfield, planned to leave Sunday for the capital. He said they would remain in the United States about 10 days, conferring with "any government officials who will listen to me."

ACTS: Brazil Attacks U-Boats, Nears Open Warfare With Axis

(By United Press)

RIO DE JANEIRO — Brazilian pilots, flying United States-made planes, stalked German and Italian submarines far out at sea today.

Brazil was virtually at war with the Axis, and diplomatic quarters believed that the Axis would not be long in attempting to make stronger reprisals than sinking unarmed Brazilian ships.

Hundreds of American-made bombers and fighters, manned by Brazilians, were said to be engaged in the offensive. They were flying with United States planes and pilots, patroling the sea lanes off the Brazil coast.

The ministry of aeronautics, in its first "war" communique, revealed that Brazilian fliers had swooped down on three submarines after an "inhuman attack" on the ship Commandante Lyra and had sunk one of them.

An unconfirmed report from Fortaleza said patrol planes had captured an Axis submarine supply ship loaded with torpedoes, oil, foodstuffs and munitions off northern Brazil. The plane signalled the ship, which claimed it was Finnish but could not explain why it was anchored, the report said. The plane then radioed for a patrol vessel which took over the ship and discovered its nature.

Scores of Brazilian and American planes immediately converged over the area, it was said, hoping to ambush submarines attempting to rendezvous with the ship.

Diplomatic sources said Brazil's move was one the Axis would not

REVOLT: Norwegians Kill Nazi Agent; Europe's Unrest Spreads

(By United Press)

LONDON—Uprising against the gestapo spread today to Norway, where another of its chiefs was reported the target of patriot assassins.

The Germans were instituting mass reprisals in Norway and, in Czechoslovakia, where Reinhard Heydrich, No. 2 man in the gestapo, who is known as "the hangman," gravely wounded by assassins Tuesday, underwent an operation which surgeons hoped would save his life.

The Norwegian patriots aimed more accurately; they killed their man, according to dispatches from Stockholm, which described him as "one of the principal gestapo officials for western Norway." The attack was said to have occurred several days ago before Heydrich was shot in Prague. He was shot on Sotra island, off Bergen, and the Germans arrested the entire population of the small village where the attack occurred.

After evacuating the families and confiscating the livestock, dispatches said, the gestapo burned the entire village to the ground.

In another part of Norway, 320 hostages were arrested for an assassination attempt against a police official of the Quisling government, and 50 more were scheduled for arrest. More than 100 hostages were said to have been sent to Germany. The Norwegians were forbidden to hold public meetings or to "talk loudly or behave obstructively."

In Czechoslovakia, the reign of terror, directed by Henrich Himmler, No. 1 boss of the gestapo who

Writer Tells of Journey Across Atlantic to England.

(Editor's Note: First details of the arrival of the latest detachment of the AEF in the British Isles are disclosed in the following story by John Henry, International News Service staff correspondent, whose dispatch from the scene was delayed by censor.)

By JOHN HENRY
(INS Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE ATLANTIC FLEET, An English Port—(Delayed)—Bearing material and men ready to strike telling blows against the Axis, a heavily laden Allied convoy moved safely into the United Kingdom today after slicing its way through prowling packs of enemy submarines.

Three of the submersibles possibly were sunk.

Evidently aware that the vast movement of soldiers and supplies was under way, U-boats dogged the convoy's circuitous path unrelentingly. They were helpless, however, in the face of a U. S. Atlantic fleet task force despatched to protect the troop and cargo vessels.

There was action—and plenty of it, all effected against the Axis undersea craft.

The convoy reached its destination without the loss of a single sailor or soldier.

The convoy hardly was under way from a bustling sea port city on America's east coast before the flagship was notified that an enemy submarine had spotted the movement.

Commanding officers said it was obvious that other Axis subs would be informed and would lurk along the path of the convoy.

They were right.

Every Man Arrives Safe After Exciting Sea Crossing.

The following day, one of the destroyers contacted a U-boat. Barrages of depth bombs were unleashed. The explosion and ship-rattling thud was the first of a series that was to mark nearly every day of the journey.

Another destroyer, the one on which this writer was a passenger, had the next brush with the foe.

Anxious faced lookouts called out a warning.

and the Legion drum corps, will place wreaths and stage a ceremony honoring unknown soldiers at the Doughboy Monument at the east side of Central Park.

At noon there will be the tolling of church bells and raising of flags to full mast. At that hour, too, the Legion will stage its traditional Memorial Day dinner. Guests of honor this year will be the Gold Star Mothers, Spanish War Veterans, and members of Company F, Ohio State Guard.

Unlike former years, many of Mansfield's industries busy with war orders will operate on the holiday. Empire Sheet and Tin Plate, for example, will maintain regular schedules Saturday and Sunday. Westinghouse announced that all its civilian goods production will be down, but that operations will continue in those departments where production of war goods can be expedited by so doing. No departments will be closed which would retard war production, it was stated.

Ohio Brass announced it will continue work on three war production contracts Saturday. This will affect a relatively small percentage of employes, it was stated. Tappan Stove likewise announced it will continue to operate all departments busy with war production work Saturday and Sunday.

Most state and local government offices, banks, and business places throughout Ohio will be closed for the day, but numerous federal units, including postoffices, will operate as usual. The Mansfield postoffice will be open until noon Saturday for the first time in its history. There will be one city delivery of mail, and all postal windows will be open. There will be no rural deliveries.

Folks planning outings will have to take their chances on the weather, because censorship regulations prevent issuance of week-end forecasts. The official weather prediction issued today called for "somewhat higher temperatures today and tonight."

All city parks will be jammed with picnickers if weather conditions are satisfactory, and Liberty park pool will open tomorrow for the season with Coach Paul Snyder in charge and with 18 lifeguards on duty on a shift basis.

Participating for the first time in a Memorial Day parade, members of the Civil Air Patrol will march 60 strong in the parade, attired in their new uniforms. Weather permitting, a formation of five planes, led by Group Commander J. R. Harrington, will fly over the downtown area at the time of the parade in special tribute to the city's first two known victims of the present war—Airmen Robert P. Spreng and Elmer L. Parsel. The CAP marchers will assemble at 1:30 p. m. at John Simpson junior high school.

President of the day for the Mansfield Memorial Day observance is F. Thane Shaw, and two veterans of Indian wars — Jacob Hetler and Daniel McAfee, will be honorary presidents although both will be unable to participate in the exercises.

Capt. Glenn L. Bierly of Company F, Ohio State Guard, will be grand marshal of the parade, with Russell E. Moore as first grand marshal and Clyde L. Myers as second grand marshal. Rev. G. E. Swoyer will be orator of the day and Rev. Glenn Lewis the chaplain of the day.

The program at the cemetery will include, in addition to band music, Rev. Swoyer's address and calling of the roll of soldier dead, the delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Harry Constance, "In Flanders Field" by James A. Brownscombe, and John A. Logan's General Orders No. 11 by Capt. Bierly.

The parade formation is as follows:

First division—On south side of Park avenue west, right resting on Mulberry street, massed colors, grand marshal and staff, Company F Ohio State Guard, Legion drum and bugle corps, World war veterans (including Legion, V. F. W., and other veterans' organizations). Mansfield Legion Cadets, Spanish War veterans, disabled veterans, Marine Corps league, Senior high school band, Gold Star mothers in cars, Sons of Union Veterans, and other sons of veterans.

Second division—Johnny Appleseed junior high school band, on North Mulberry street, right resting on Park avenue, all service men home on furlough, officials of the day, speakers of the day, city officials, Madison high school band, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Third division — John Simpson junior high school band, on South Mulberry street, right resting on Park avenue, car representing Richland Victory Civic committee, school children, Woman's Relief corps, Daughters of Union Veterans, other ladies' auxiliaries in cars, DeMolay drum corps, Rainbow Girls, Navy and Marine mothers.

Members of the Mansfield Legion Cadets—recently organized for boys of the city from 16 to 19 years of age, will march in the parade directly behind the American Legion members. The cadets were asked by Sam Fox, commander of McVey post of the Legion, to assemble at 1:30 p. m. at the Legion Home, when the Legionnaires and auxiliary also will assemble.

The Navy Mothers club plans participation in two Memorial Day parades—in Shelby in the morning and Mansfield in the afternoon. Members wishing to march in the Shelby parade will meet at the home of Mrs. Florence Blunk, 103 West Fourth street, at 8:30 a. m. They will assemble at the Legion Home for the Mansfield parade at 1:30 p. m.

Among athletic events scheduled for the week-end, the Cleveland Indians' Saturday doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns will draw some fans to Cleveland. Some Mansfielders will attend the midget auto races at the Ashland Fairgrounds Saturday afternoon, and a large crowd will witness the regatta Sunday at Pleasant Hill Dam.

The Mansfield Provident Loan girls softball team, state champions, will play in Delaware Saturday evening, and at 3 p. m. Sunday will meet the Elyria Franks Bakery team at North Lake Park.

HOBOES MEET

'Key Men' Converge On Massillon for National Convention.

MASSILLON—(AP)—The national convention of Hoboes of America, incorporated, opens here tomorrow, but Massillon will not be flooded with members of the organization, which claims 1,015,000 knights of the road.

Jeff Davis, hobo king, said only about 50 key men would attend.

"Thousands of our members are now aiding Uncle Sam in the war. We have more than 50,000 members in the armed forces and 400,000 are employed in defense plants," the king declared.

ignore. They pointed out that Brazil was fighting Germany and Italy without having formally declared war.

The reason was the ruthless sinking of Brazilian ships. Last January, Brazil took the lead at the emergency conference of foreign ministers in urging Latin American nations to break relations with the Axis.

Brazil broke relations with Germany, Italy and Japan the day the conference ended and began to purge Axis agents and spies. The Germans retaliated by sinking a Brazilian ship. Since then, at least eight Brazilian ships, aggregating more than 40,000 tons, have been sunk.

Mexican Congress Begins War Action

MEXICO CITY—(U.P.)—Congress began acting today on President Manuel Avila Camacho's request that it declare Mexico has been at war with the Axis since May 22.

Avila Camacho, denouncing the "ruthless aggression" of Germany, Italy and Japan in a speech before an extraordinary session of congress, left no doubt that he expected speedy and affirmative action.

As the nation already was at war, he said, "Mexico expects every son to do his duty."

Avila Camacho asked the war declaration be made retroactive to May 22, because that was the day the cabinet decided to ask for a declaration of war, the Axis having answered an ultimatum about the sinking of one Mexico ship by sinking a second.

Nazis 'Unimpressed' As Mexico Moves

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) — (AP) — Noting Mexico's avowal of belligerency against Germany, Italy and Japan, Dr. Paul Schmidt, chief of the German foreign press department, said today, "We do not think this is so important as to be greatly impressed in it. Hence, comment is superfluous."

Mexico Maintains Coast Defenses

MEXICO CITY—(U.P.)—The army and navy, without waiting for Mexico's declaration of war, maintained defenses on all extended frontiers and coast lines today.

Mexico's army, with a normal strength of 52,000 men, has been on emergency guard duty since Pearl Harbor. The army includes 500 battalions of infantry, 40 regiments of cavalry, two artillery regiments, one anti-tank company, one tank company, one signal company and two engineer sapper battalions.

As Mansfielders Give Blood To Help Nation's War Program

Mansfielders and Richland countians made their first contribution to the Red Cross blood donor service yesterday when the Cleveland mobile blood donor unit paid its first visit to Mansfield. One hundred and one persons passed through the Donation Center located in Bethany House of First Presbyterian church, and for their services received a bronze blood donor button. Miss Marjorie Maul, a Mansfield nurse attached to the mobile unit since February, is shown interviewing a potential donor, T. E. Schacher, 223 Rowland avenue, in the picture at the top left. Dr. John J. Clark, Mansfield physician, is shown, top right, taking the blood pressure of Mrs. Frederick Crouse, 473 West Third street. At the lower left, John Finefrock, Richland county Red Cross blood donor chairman, presents a donor button to L. W. Birch, chairman of the county chapter.

BLOOD DONOR UNIT BUSY, ENDS STOP IN MANSFIELD TOMORROW

More than 300 units of blood will be contributed by Mansfield and Richland county residents by the time the Cleveland mobile blood donor unit returns to the laboratory in Berea Saturday night after its third and last day in Mansfield.

"The city's response to the blood donor program has been enthusiastic like its response to all other Red Cross appeals," John H. Finefrock, blood donor chairman for Richland county chapter of the Red Cross, said today. He was commenting upon the reaction of the first 101 persons who passed through the donation center yesterday.

Bethany House of First Presbyterian church, where the donation center is established, was filled with donors and potential donors throughout the afternoon and they were attended by uniformed women representing the respective volunteer services of the county Red Cross.

Rejections were estimated at 30 per cent and these were largely caused by high or low blood pressure of the prospective donor. Vacancies were filled by the hasty recruiting of other donors from a list of 600 persons who had volunteered for the service.

In response to the many inquiries from volunteers who were not notified to appear for the mobile unit's first visit, Miss Lenore Van Gundia, Red Cross executive secretary, explained that these volunteers would be called for service at the time of the unit's next visit in eight weeks.

The unit is staffed with Dr. Elizabeth Bryan of Cleveland and a corps of nurses including a former Mansfielder, Miss Marjorie Maul. Mansfield physicians are cooperating with the program by giving time each day to taking blood pressures.

SAYS TROOPS TO INVADE FRANCE

Marshall Tells West Pointers U. S. Will Have 4,500,000 In Army This Year.

plans for the army, wanted to know "where American soldiers might be called upon to fight and just what was the urgent necessity for the army that we were endeavoring to organize and train."

"In reply I usually commented on the fact that we had previously fought in France, Italy, and Germany; in Africa, and the Far East; in Siberia and northern Russia," Marshall said. "No one could tell what the future might hold for us. But one thing was clear to me, we must be prepared to fight anywhere, and on short notice.

"The possibilities were not overdrawn, for today we find American soldiers throughout the Pacific, in Burma, China, and India. They have flown over Japan. They are landing in England, and they will land in France. We are determined that before the sun sets on this terrible struggle, our flag will be recognized throughout the world as a symbol of freedom on the one hand and of overwhelming power on the other."

The chief of staff said the confusion which existed in the minds of many Americans before Pearl Harbor was a thing of the past, and the American people, "solidly behind the army, are supporting wholeheartedly every measure for the prosecution of the war, and they are meeting with calm courage the vicissitudes inevitable in a war extending to the four corners of the earth."

"This attitude," Marshall said, "is exemplified in heroic measure by the parents and wives of those men who fought to the last ditch in the Philippines. Their fortitude was magnificent during those agonizing days of tragic uncertainty regarding their sons and husbands. The letters that have come to me from the mothers or wives of men lost in that Homeric struggle are my greatest reassurance that America has steeled itself for a terrible struggle, with the implacable determination to hammer out a complete victory—decisive and final."

The citizen-army which the cadets will join in two weeks as second lieutenants was described by Marshall as "in physique, in natural ability, and in intelligence, the finest personnel in the world."

WE'LL DO IT!

Patterson Says U. S. to Build 50,000 Planes This Year.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said last night that the United States would produce more than 50,000 airplanes this year.

Referring to President Roosevelt's call for 50,000 planes, Patterson said that many people believed it "a fantastic possibility," and added: "But this year's production of planes by American industry will surpass the 50,000 figure by a healthy margin.

The under secretary spoke at a dinner of Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, who will retire on Sunday as chief of ordnance. Patterson said that the output of tanks and ammunition was rolling along to new levels also.

Exercises were opened by a brief address of welcome by the class president, Lee Adams. The program was then turned over to Robert Winbigler, vice president, who introduced Winifred Bauer.

The class will was read by Marian Little and Paul Dietzel, assisted by Morton Frankel, Anne Lersch and Helen Short.

Treasurer Robert Stevenson presented the class gift to the school, a check for the balance of the funds in the class treasury, to be divided equally between the physical and social science departments.

The two class songs were sung as solos. The first, written by Jean Kelly and Marilou Sowash, was presented by Mary McCartney, and the second, composed by Frederick Morey was sung by Don McLaughlin.

Ed Arlin made presentation and dedication of the year book to the school.

Exercises were concluded by the presentation of the "Key of Knowledge" by Adams to Charles Hayes, president of the next senior class.

The all-school symphony orchestra, directed by S. K. Jorgenson, furnished music for marching.

RESIGNS POST

Crawford Leaves as Member of Draft Board 3.

The resignation of J. M. Crawford of Shelby as member and chairman of Richland county selective service Board 3 was announced today.

Crawford, who has headed the board since it was organized in 1940, said his duties as a member have become so pressing that they interfere seriously with his work as an official of the Shelby Mutual Plate Glass and Casualty company.

Crawford's resignation has been accepted at the state selective service headquarters and steps were being taken today to name a successor. A candidate will be selected by the county recommending committee which will submit the name to Gov. John W. Bricker and President Roosevelt for appointment.

DIGS IN

Private Finds Punishment Right In His Line, Takes a Nap.

FORT DEVENS, Mass.—(INS)— Superior officers of Private Arthur Konopachr today were hard put to find a fitting punishment for him.

Konopachr was found guilty of a minor infraction of the rules and was given the usual punishment duty of digging a hole four feet deep and four feet square. An hour later a surprised sergeant found the soldier asleep in the completed hole. Konopachr was a professional grave-digger at Flushing, N. Y., before induction.

HITLER TAKES COMMAND AT KHARKOV FRONT

Report Reds Driven Back at Line Center

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) —(AP)— The high command reported today that Soviet forces had attacked on the central sector of the Russian front—presumably before Moscow—and had been repulsed in a fierce fight with some of the attacking force encircled.

In the long-contested Kharkov sector a communique said the Germans were mopping up with the "number of prisoners and amount of booty mounting steadily."

Military circles said that the big Kharkov battle had ended and that fighting was continuing only in the area south of the city against remnants of Soviet forces.

The German high command also said that sinking of three more ships has brought to 17 vessels totaling 114,000 tons the toll taken by German air and naval attacks on a convoy in the far north since May 25.

Military quarters said the convoy still was a long way from its destination of Murmansk, Russia.

Soviet Troops Storm Kharkov

MOSCOW —(INS)— Russian and German forces on the Kharkov front today were reported locked in a furious battle for possession of a key city on the Donets river.

Soviet troops were said to have stormed the city after a daring crossing of the river to engage the Nazi defenders in fierce street fighting. The part of the city remaining in German hands was reported ablaze.

(A Vichy radio broadcast, quoting "information from a Soviet source," said that the Russians had improved their position on the eastern sector of the "bulge" below Kharkov and consolidated an important bridgehead on the right flank of the Donets river north of Izyum. The Russians were said to be using a bridge crossing to Balakleja, 45 miles southeast of Kharkov.

(The bridge, the Vichy radio said, was left intact by the Germans and captured after a savage battle. The Russians immediately installed 100 anti-aircraft batteries near the bridgehead to fend off efforts of the German Luftwaffe to destroy it by bombing.

(The Vichy reports said also that Russian artillery was bombarding Kharkov from newly gained positions.)

Late reports from the front indicate that the Russians are attacking and advancing on all important sectors before Kharkov despite German claims to huge successes in the Izyum-Barvenkovo area to the southeast.

All German counter-attacks were said to have been beaten off, with the Nazis now on the defensive all along the line on the Kharkov front.

MAYOR GIVEN POLICE PROTEST

Bellevue, who acts as advisor to members of the police brotherhood, said that members of the department had asked whether the police had a right to intervene in the mayor's program to exclude interviews on city business.

The brotherhood secretary said that he had informed the policemen that he "did not believe they had the right to bar entrance to a public building or office unless a crime had been committed."

Bellevue saw Mayor Locke today after the mayor had again refused an interview with Murray.

The News-Journal reporter had been waiting in the reception room and was talking with Bellevue when the mayor came to the door of his office. When Murray asked for an interview, Locke said "No!" slammed the door shut, and locked it.

Murray was unable to reach the mayor by telephone because both of the mayor's secretaries said that "they had been given orders" not to allow the reporter's entrance or ton connect him on the telephone.

When Bellevue held his interview with the mayor, he had to wait until Locke unlocked the office door. After he entered the office, the door was locked behind him. Visitors to the mayor's office this morning were locked in with the mayor until their interviews were completed.

Bellevue made no comment on the answer that Locke gave when the message was delivered.

QUIZ MOTHER

Authorities Link Woman, 28, With Cuyahoga Jail Break.

CLEVELAND — (INS)— Sheriff Joseph M. Sweeney today questioned a 28-year-old mother of four children in connection with escape from the Cuyahoga county jail of three men last Sunday.

Girl friend of one of the escaped men, the woman is suspected of smuggling into the lockup saws used in the break, Sweeney said. Meanwhile, a grand jury investigation was under way to fix blame for the break.

Tomorrow, America pauses to pay tribute to her soldier dead.
We are again in a great war to determine whether the principles of freedom upon which this nation was founded can survive against the lust of conquest.
Let us all re-dedicate ourselves and all that we have to the winning of this war. It will be the most fitting tribute we can pay to those who have fought to defend those principles of freedom.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1942.

Biddle's Order In Bridges Case

THE deportation order against Harry Bridges, issued yesterday by Attorney General Biddle, is unlikely to result in the ouster of the west coast communistic CIO leader from the United States in the near future.

Bridges regards the decision as "outrageous" and will doubtless appeal to the courts, which may be effective in dragging the case along for another several years.

About all that appears to have been immediately accomplished by the attorney general's action is to establish a line of demarcation between native-born and alien Communists, as Australian-born Harry Bridges is deemed objectionable because of his membership in an organization which advocates overthrow of the American form of government, while American-born Earl Browder, fire-brand of American communism, is condoned and made the beneficiary of presidential commutation of prison sentence, in the interest of "national unity."

It's all very confusing—but it's a safe bet that Bridges will not be deported soon . . . if ever.

Government To Curb Labor Shifts

GOVERNMENT action to prevent widespread labor shifts in war industries, with skilled workers going to the highest bidders, appears to be a necessary part of the all-out war program on which the United States has embarked.

Already fabulous wages being paid to some war industry workers might be boosted without limit if there is no restraint on competition for services of skilled workers, of which there is a considerable shortage, coupled with growing needs.

Natural inclination of workers to move to jobs which even temporarily pay more money has resulted in depleting the labor supply of essential industries not in position to compete with the wages paid by firms engaged on war contracts and has also cut deeply into the supply of farm labor.

It cannot be doubted that, in the event of emergency, agencies of government can exercise as great authority over workers in war industries as is regularly practiced in military service, and requirement that employment in war plants shall hereafter be under supervision of the war manpower commission is obviously a step in that direction—although still lacking the element of wage stabilization.

With further mobilization of the army, which it is estimated will become about four times its present size, the labor problem will become increasingly serious. Several months ago the government warned business to start lining up for employment undraftable men and women capable of doing men's work.

Observers believe that the time is rapidly approaching when few if any able-bodied persons in this country will be unable to find employment, which should practically eliminate need for continuing the WPA.

No Need for Police Guard

WHATEVER Mayor Locke's belief may be, as to the need of personal police protection, assurance is given that no fear need be felt of a News-Journal reporter assigned to cover city hall.

Calling police officers from other duties to stand guard at his office door yesterday, apparently for no other purpose than to follow his announced policy of refusing to admit a reporter of this newspaper, or to give information on city business of public interest, is only one in a series of ridiculous episodes associated with the mayor's idea of dealing with newsmen.

It apparently escapes Mayor Locke that his own personal likes and dislikes have nothing to do with performance of the work of his official position, and that it is through the newspaper of his community that the people he serves are given opportunity to keep informed on the way he is handling their business.

As has been previously stated, it is only in his official position as mayor of Mansfield that a News-Journal reporter is assigned to call on Mr. Locke each day, so that news of municipal affairs may come from what is generally regarded as an authentic source. There is no element of idle curiosity involved, nor is there any discernible reason why Mr. Locke should continue to make this a disagreeable task for one after another of the reporters who have been assigned to call on him.

His most recent demand that questions be submitted to him in writing, with answers to be made in the form of a prepared statement, reaches a new height of absurdity in the attitude of a city official toward a newspaper representative whose time is limited by "deadlines" and who has many other things to do each morning besides visiting the mayor's office.

Theaters To Sell War Bonds

STARTING tomorrow, Mansfield and Richland county motion picture theaters will join their 15,000 associates throughout the nation in selling war stamps and bonds to patrons.

Memorial day has been designated as "Movie War Bond and Stamp Day" by the theaters, and the drive will continue for the duration of war.

This will provide an additional valuable outlet for war bonds and stamps. A noteworthy feature is the fact that theaters are open at times when many other points of distribution are closed—evening, Sundays and holidays.

Restrained Optimism

THE RECENT wave of confidence that swept over this country and through the Allied Nations has given way to a spirit of caution. Officials at Washington, and many independent critics, sound the same note. There is a legitimate expectation of victory, but with it is the knowledge that it would be very dangerous to take victory for granted, with the let-down of spirit and effort that might result from long delay.

The wise thing at present is to take nothing for granted, excepting the will and the power to win if the nation throws all it has into the struggle and keeps everlastingly on the job. It is better to realize that we could lose this war, by thinking the job easier than it is.

Ice cream flavors are to be reduced to twenty—with vanilla continuing to top the list.

It isn't really true that laws are made for other people.

THE GREAT AMERICAN DESERT

Will Post-War World Be Better?

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

IF WE'RE as confident as we profess to be, of a better world after the present war, why the peculiar little precautionary paragraph at the end of the agreement just entered into between the United States and Panama, by which the little republic endorses an "impregnable defense zone," of Uncle Sam's creation, all around our isthmian canal?

That we're quite likely to need it is obvious.

The Panama folk's willingness to grant it is equally so. They're friendly toward us. Furthermore, they don't want that canal and their adjacent territory bombed by Nazis or Japs from overhead or their waters infested by Axis subs offshore.

So they acquiesced readily in our utilization of all their ocean frontages and land bases to stand off the enemy for the war's duration. On our part, we promise to move out within a year after its end.

BUT—

There's one qualification. "If a state of international insecurity still exists" when nominal peace is declared again, we're entitled to negotiate for a continuation of the arrangement until the last speck of danger's over—in 100 years or forever, no matter when We suggest it and Panama promptly agrees.

Forever and a Day?

This deal was arranged between Panama's foreign office and State Secretary Hull, who has stated unequivocally that the earth's next peace is going to continue on into infinity. Does that clause sound as if he was so dead sure of it?

We're going to have economic order, anyway. On that issue all experts on the subject concur. This is one of the times when there'll be no post-war-crash-and-depression.

The Brookings Institution has just received a $130,000 gift to finance studies to head off such a situation. The amount doesn't seem significant in these billion-dollar days, but the Brookings folk are economical. Brookings President Harold G. Moulton, without saying that he wouldn't appreciate more, nevertheless explains that it'll be devoted to conditions "beyond the usual type of research, to tap the wisdom born of experience in the realm of practical affairs."

O. K., but does it sound as if Dr. Moulton reckoned that post-war orders for autos, refrigerators and other capital goods into dealers' hands, to be paid for with war bonds, for instant delivery to customers.

There's another post-war problem.

If the conflict strings along, won't our bureaucrats, like Leon Henderson, Paul V. McNutt and others become so powerful that they'll overshadow congress and even the executive authority that originally appointed 'em?

So, not only the war's outcome, but it's economic aftermath are worries to our historical speculators, but our government's an issue of anxiety.

Some Are Optimistic.

Secretary Charles Greeley Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution, however, offers a constructive suggestion.

The world, says Dr. Abbott, is getting cooler.

The sun has spells of those spots.

The sun consists of gas, compacted, under gravity's pressure, into a solidity resembling hot asphalt tar. Thus stuff bubbles to the surface at intervals of about a dozen years. As it does so, it creates comparatively cool sunspots, which are reflected terrestrially—cooler, for a season, here on earth.

It appears that we've got one of these periods coming on.

It mayn't have anything to do with the war, but Dr. Abbott's entitled to his voice in the matter.

Listen World!

Family Squabbles

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

FIVE HUNDRED letters, more or less. How'd you like to read them every morning? Swell letters, most of them . . . kindly, unselfish, sensible, brimming over with increasing patriotism. But there are also others—whiney, self-pitying epistles from citizens who have never realized that there is anything happening beyond their own toothaches.

There's Jane, for instance. She can't get along with her sister-in-law. They're always brawling over the children or their girl friends or the way Mayme cooks rice and Edna mangles the beans. So, since they live under the same roof, it's one long feud from dawn 'til dark. And when their respective husbands arrive home nights the warfare doubles

Then there's John. His is an old, old story. He doesn't like his mother-in-law. He doesn't want any part of her, yet there she is. And John can't get over it. He starts accumulating a grouch before he leaves the office and by the time he reaches home he's packing a punch that would knock out Joe Louis in the first round.

Jim's another one. He's one of those Younger Brothers who lie around the house and get in everybody's hair, particularly in Sam's who happens to be his brother-in-law. Sam yelled with joy when the draft came along and thought his troubles were at an end, but the draft passed by Jim. They didn't want him either.

So every eve and far into the night there's a brawl between Sam and the missus that blankety blank so and so and when is he going to get out and do something. And every day Jim pours his wounded feelings out ad lib while smoking Sam's cigarettes. And so it goes. So what do I think about it all and what would I advise?

I think it's plumb silly. I'll even go further: I think it's actually traitorous for anyone to use up so much personal emotion and energy in petty brawls and grudges when the whole world is at war! And I advise the whole kit and kaboodle of 'em to go out and give themselves a good kick in the shin where it hurts most.

The human race is reeling through what may be its death agony. Already millions of men and women have suffered agony which one dare not contemplate. The treasure and culture of thousands of years have been swept away. Everything that we cherish, everything we have been taught to revere, is at stake. This world is doomed unless we can save it, we faulty, stupid, weak human beings.

Even as I write I am looking down on San Francisco Bay whose beauty has been treasured since America began . . . looking down on San Francisco's lovely hills, wreathed in the trailing lace of mingled fog and sunshine. Yet, as I look, I'm perfectly aware that any moment I may see those hills blasted by the hell of war . . . I may see that bay run red with blood.

The same is true of your home, wherever you may live. There is no security unless you establish it; there can never again be peace unless you secure it.

AND YET IN SPITE OF THIS, WE CARRY ON OUR TRIVIAL LITTLE DOG-FIGHTS, SQUALLING LIKE SPOILED CHILDREN OVER SOME SMALL INCONVENIENCE, SNARLING AND BICKERING BECAUSE LIFE ISN'T JUST AS WE WOULD LIKE IT.

Home fires! Home fires that we feed with our hate and malice, resentment and suspicion while the whole world wallows in war. God forgive us! Let us for once know the cleansing grace of shame, lift us for once above our limited selves, and let us glimpse the enormity of the terror which we face. And in the words of the dying Christ who gave His own life that we might find a better plan, hear this prayer, FATHER, FORGIVE US; WE KNOW NOT WHAT WE DO!

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, May 29, 1922.

Frederick Palmer, war correspondent, was in Mansfield getting material for article on the Child Health demonstration.

Dr. J. H. Nichols went to Chicago to attend surgical clinics.

Mrs. William McCarthy, 44, died.

J. F. Harmon left on trip to Laredo, Tex.

Lee Valentine was appointed by Sheriff Kaufman as Richland county dog catcher.

It was being argued that excessive rainfall was due to radio disturbance of the air.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, May 29, 1937.

Dolores Beer celebrated her third birthday anniversary with a party at her home, 519 North Mulberry street.

Attorney William Voegele motored to Ada, Minn., to be the Memorial day speaker.

Miss Virginia Basinger became the bride of Paul Old.

Miss Edith Tither celebrated her 17th birthday anniversary with a party at Purdy hall.

Announcement was made that July 17 had been chosen as "Mansfield Day" at the Great Lakes' exposition in Cleveland.

Railroad Shop Unions Volunteer 48-Hour Week on War Business

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Wanted: A GOP money-raiser. National Chairman Joe Martin is quietly hunting for someone to replace steel magnate Ernest Weir as finance chairman of the Republican national committee.

It wasn't announced at the time, but Weir formally quit at the recent national committee meeting in Chicago. He gave as his excuse lack of time due to war work, but insiders say the real reason was personal dislike of Martin. It's no party secret that Weir and oil-man Joe Pew, Pennsylvania Republican boss, wanted to eliminate Martin as national chairman.

If personal dislike was the reason for Weir's resignation, the feeling was mutual. On his part, Martin never was fond of the Pittsburgh steel mogul. However, in the interest of the party, Martin was willing to work with him, but if Weir didn't want to play, that was okay with Martin.

Up to last week, Martin thought he had found an ace money-raiser in Colby Chester, 62-year-old board chairman of General Foods corporation. An admirer of Martin, Chester tentatively agreed to take the job after a long talk between them.

But last week he sent his regrets, saying that rationing, price control, and loss of key assistants forced him to devote all his time to his giant company. General Foods' president, Clare Francis and advertising manager, Charles Mortimer are dollar-a-year WPB officials.

However, GOP insiders say there was another factor behind Chester's declination.

According to them, he put the matter up to Mrs. Joseph Davies, wife of Roosevelt's friend, the former U. S. ambassador to Russia, and to other big company stockholders. They advised against taking the Republican post.

Do-As-Done-By Dept.

CHALK up an industrial distinguished service citation for America's vast railroad shops and the labor employed in them. They are going to work on ships, munitions, war equipment—on a 48-hour week, instead of the 40 hours they could have had if they had insisted on it. Further, the workers are foregoing overtime pay, and management all profits, on war business.

The deal was engineered by the war department's industrial-labor relations section, with the full co-operation of the workers and management.

Railroad shops always have worked a 48-hour week. Most other similar industries are geared to the 40-hour week. Had the rail shop unions insisted, they probably could have got overtime pay above 40 hours. But they waived it on the condition that their action would not be used as a precedent to batter down labor standards in other industries. The war department readily agreed.

"A few more enlightened agreements between government, industry and labor such as this one," said one top army official, "and we will have the labor-baiters in and out of congress on the ropes."

* * *

Lindbergh's Friend.

VERY quietly and with no fanfare, Col. Truman Smith, one-time friend of Charles A. Lindbergh, has come back into the war department. Although never fully published at the time, a very significant story lies behind his exit.

For some time before the war, Col. Smith was U. S. military attache in Berlin. There he got to know the German army better, perhaps, than any other U. S. army officer. This was partly because some years before he had befriended several German officers when they came to Fort Benning to study U. S. military methods.

As a result of Col. Smith's knowledge, the U. S. army had an excellent insight into German military preparations.

While in Germany, Col. Smith became a close friend of Lindbergh, and later when Lindbergh used to visit Washington, he sometimes stayed at Smith's home.

This came to the attention of Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, who indignantly reported it to the White House, together with a strong suggestion that Col. Smith be courtmartialed.

However, Chief of Staff Marshall and Assistant Secretary of War Johnson stepped in, warned that a courtmartial would have bad repercussions; so instead Col. Smith was retired.

All this was a year before Pearl Harbor. But since the United States entered the war, Col. Smith has come back again. Officially, he is in Military Intelligence. But actually—though Justice Frankfurter, doesn't know it—he is giving his knowledge of Germany to the war plans division of the general staff.

Bark From Home.

THE alert radio branch of the war department received a letter from an Indiana farm boy, now with the expeditionary force in Australia, saying he certainly liked the radio programs the department sent out. He liked Dorothy Lamour's singing and Charlie McCarthy, and appreciated very much the sports reports. They were all swell, he said, but what he really would like to hear was the voice of his dog, Queenie.

So the radio branch sent sound recording equipment out to the soldier's farm home in Indiana and in a few days he will be hearing the voice of Queenie herself.

* * *

Budget Czar.

FEW people outside the government realize how all-powerful has become the director of the budget. In fact, even the undersecretary of war, Judge Patterson, did not realize it until the other day.

He planned to publish a magazine called "Fire Power" to circulate in factories to inspire workers to faster production, show how the war must be won in the factory as well as at the front.

But when the first issue of "Fire Power" was ready for press, Harold Smith, efficient, all-embracing director of the budget wrote that it was his job, since 1922, to decide whether such projects could be started, and that he hereby decided against it.

Undersecretary Patterson was a bit puzzled as to why the budget bureau should rule on a vital question of morale for wartime production. But finally, after cluttering up the files with a lot of official correspondence, he managed to remove the red tape, and the war department was permitted to publish its magazine.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Chambers street. Warren street. Murray street. That's me. I'm New York's breadbasket. They dump it on my sidewalks every night. All night. In piles 20 feet high. Cabbages. Potatoes. Onions. In boxes, crates, gunny sacks. They bring it in in trucks. Big high-toned moving trucks. And in horse drawn carts. They make barricades out of carrots and castles out of lettuce and pyramids out of apples. Citrus Lane they call it, along about 4 a. m. By sun-up it's Cabbage Row. Then they take it away. To the restaurants. To the hotels and cafes. To the markets and the green grocers and the chain grocers and the independent grocers. All over town. All over Manhattan, and the Bronx. They take it to Staten Island. To Queens, and to Brooklyn.

* * *

WHEN you walk along there, say, about eight o'clock, in the morning, on your way to the office, you don't see much. . . . Oh, you see enough, but not so much as you see in the after dark hours. In the mornings, you see the white onions and the red onions. . . . The people who put the onions in their loosely woven sacks know what they are doing. . . . They emphasize color. . . . They put the white onions in the white sacks, and the red onions in the red sacks. That's what they do. It makes the white seem whiter, and the red redder.

Ask the shipping clerks and the receivers who stand around checking the items, in their long white robes. If they had on rubber gloves and if they wore white masks across their faces, they'd look like surgeons. . . . Except for the mud on their shoes And the tomato stains on their white aprons. And the oniony smell And the wet cigarettes dangling from their lips.

* * *

"I GOT 600 crates of grapes." . . . "I got 200 crates of cranberries." . . . "I got 171 bags of potatoes." . . .

That's Max talking. Max is 51. Been there long? You bet. Seventeen years. Does he like his job? You bet. Wouldn't do anything else. People hafta be fed. People gotta be fed. When people get hungry, they reach for the bread basket That's Chambers street. And Warren. And Murray. That's Max.

You come along there, say after midnight, and you'll walk in the street, or else. Ain't no room on the sidewalks. Not after midnight, when the tomatoes and the cabbages and the carrots come in. Not when the celery and the grapefruit get there.

* * *

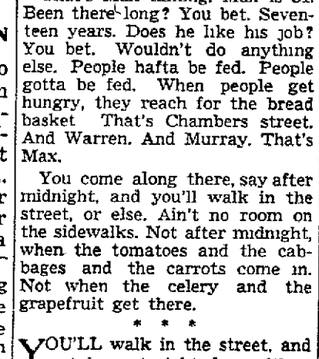
YOU'LL walk in the street, and not in a straight line either. You'll weave in and out of vans and hacks and trucks. You'll get out of the way of horses, and you'll go home with the aroma of onion in your hair. For a boutonniere you'll wear a radish.

That's the bread-basket. New York's lower west side. Right by West street. If you've got a good arm, you can stand on Chambers, or Warren, or Murray, and pitch a potato into the Hudson.

Sure, you can see shows on Broadway. Any old Broadway. Good shows and bad. Fast shows and smug shows and very, very dumb shows.

Tell you what. If I were a visitor to New York, I'd take in a show on Broadway. You bet. But not until I'd seen the bread-basket show. Not until I'd gone down there at night, and seen a real drama, where the actors are turnips and tomatoes and cabbages, and not just hams.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"But I had to leave Kenneth and come home to you, Mother . . . I couldn't stand his cooking!!"

A Farmer's Diary

From the Grave

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

PASSING an old cemetery, along a narrow gravel road I noticed how the light reflected from the polished gravestones. In one place monuments sheltered by tall shrubs seemed to be indirectly lighted by some unseen source—the sun was nearly down. I drove slowly past, then stopped my car and went back to investigate.

Before I reached the woven, rusty gate, I saw, down over the hill that a new grave had been dug. Great mounds of reddish yellow clay were piled on either side. The sexton must have finished his work very lately for every crumb of earth scattered thinly on the grass was moist yet. His shovel, pick and digging iron lay by a mossy headstone.

This new grave was made in the older part, which seemed very odd since there would have been ample room nearer the highway. I walked among the leaning headstones, observing dates. The oldest buried there bore the date May, 1819, a Revolutionary soldier. Some Civil war veterans were near by, as was evidenced by bronze metal stars on sticks.

When I had walked about for several moments, I came to the edge of the open grave. My feet slipped on the clayey pebbles and to stay myself I rammed my hand into the pile of dirt. It felt cold and sticky. It seemed the amount of dirt was twice as large as the space the sexton had excavated. Passively I wondered how long it took him. I stepped along the edge and found the length greater than seven feet and the width more than a single long step.

A plank lay over along the fence, cleated, with marks of heavy muddy soles. On this the gravedigger must have climbed up from his lowly task. I carried it to the edge and dropepd one end to the bottom. Backwards I crawled down. At once I felt the cool dampness of heavy air upon my knees and ankles. Raw earth was all about me. When I stopped my face felt the clammy atmosphere. I felt like one imprisoned, and knew the urge to extricate myself. Yet I stood there and began to ponder how evenly the base of the metal vault would rest upon the bottom, how much space might remain when the lid was carefully lowered—amid the muffled sobs of loved ones.

Occupied with these diversive thoughts, I noticed a horizontal rift midway from each end and perhaps a foot above the level of the bottom. I touched the small blister of clay with my forefinger and an earthy scale dropped down. An open space was there. The sexton had gone closer to an earlier grave than he suspected. I saw a moist splinter of a white pine casket, and farther in, the dark gray color of bone.

I felt lonely. The open grave I was standing in would be better closed. It disturbed the peace. I wondered what my neighbor lying there so near at hand had looked like in the prime of life.

I took some moist clay and plastered shut the little chink, then hurried up the plank. It seemed I reached a different world in that short climb. Curiously I read the modest headstone on the neighboring grave—"Mary Smith, Died 1850, aged 19."

Murder On the Avenue

CHAPTER XXII

"Thank you, Mrs. Binney. Now, which way to the Webb house?"

The postmistress gave him directions, and Clarence Bliss left.

The Webb house had been built in the cupola and bay-window era. A large square house it was, painted slate gray with brown trim.

Bliss rang the old-fashioned bell-pull and waited. The door was opened by bored and disinterested-looking Jim Bostwick.

"I want to see Mrs. Holden," said Bliss, and stepped into the hall. Bostwick turned his head and screamed "Sarah!" Then closed the front door and disappeared.

A woman, dressed in black entered the hall.

"You want to see me, sir?" she said in a calm, courteous voice.

"Yes, if you please.. I want a few minutes talk about Mr. Webb. I am Mr. Bliss from New York; Brand Herrick's partner."

Sarah led the way to what was evidently the parlor. The furnishings were of the plush and chrom period, but all was well cared for, and the room bright and cheery.

They sat down and the housekeeper looked at him inquiringly.

"I came," Clarence said, "to learn something of the circumstances of Mr. Webb's death."

"They ain't much to tell," she answered, seeming to think his explanation sufficient. "Mr. Webb, he was along in years, just turned eighty, and he caught a terrible cold, and it took him bad and went off into pneumonia, and he just couldn't pull through. Well, we all got to die when our time comes."

"When will the funeral be held, Mrs. Holden?"

"Tomorrow, sir. Will you be stayin' for it?"

"Yes. Is there a hotel—"

"No sir, there ain't. Any one befriendin' young Brand Herrick is welcome to his old uncle's home. Your place is here so long's you choose to stay in it. Now, sir, why are you here instid of Brand himself?"

Bliss took a sudden decision.

"Mrs. Holden," he said, and his manner conveyed assurance of his belief in her trustworthiness, loyalty, secrecy and wisdom. "I want to tell you why Brand is not here, but I don't want others to know the reason."

"Then they won't know it."

"Brand Herrick is in prison for a crime he did not commit."

"Bless his heart, of course he didn't! The Webbs couldn't commit crime. You goin' to get him out, I s'pose."

"Yes. But I'll stay for the funeral."

"Whatever you say. I'm Mr. Webb's housekeeper and I had a feelin' that some of the family from somewhere would turn up to take charge. But nobody's came, 'ceptin' you. So as Brand Herrick's reppasentative, won't you lend a hand?"

"What do you mean for me to do?"

"Why decide things. Give orders. Make everything go off right. Be boss of everything. Me and my children will do just what you tell us."

* * *

Bliss was silent a minute. He realized that here was a chance for him to do something worthwhile for Brand.

"Mrs. Holden," he said, "as there is nobody else to do it, I will take charge in full, as you ask. But if any near relative turns up, I shall step out."

Sarah looked troubled. After a moment, she said:

"All right, sir. If that doesn't include Mr. Wiley—he is the son-in-law of Mr. Webb."

"They were not friends?"

"When Mr. Webb's daughter Jane eloped with John Wiley, Mr. Webb disowned his daughter and said he would never see her again, and he never did."

"Did she ever come here?"

"Once I saw her and her baby; but Mr. Webb would not see

SOCIETY & CLUBS

DEMONSTRATION OF HOME CANNING GIVEN

Mrs. Julia Kiene Tells Health for Victory Club, Guests of Importance of Food Preservation; Booklets Distributed.

BEFORE A NEAR capacity crowd of 550 Mansfield women, Mrs. Julia Kiene, Westinghouse Home Economics head, presented a timely Home Canning demonstration yesterday afternoon in the company auditorium at the fourth meeting of the local Health for Victory club.

Emphasizing the importance of fruits and vegetables in maintaining a normal and adequate diet, Mrs. Kiene explained four methods of food preservation—canning, dehydration, cold storage, and pits and boxes. A thorough demonstration was made of each of the three ways to can at home—in the oven, in a pressure cooker, and by water bath or boiling water method.

Emphasizing that this year more than ever home canning should be done as a war expedient, she pointed out that supplies of commercially canned goods will likely be limited to curtailment of civilian shipping, lend-lease countries' requirements, limits on available cans, and loss of production from Japanese worked winter gardens on the west coast. She told her audience that today the country's supply of canned peas is one-third less than a year ago, canned corn one-quarter less, and the canned bean supply is only one-half. Because of this she said "you have a tremendous canning responsibility in safeguarding your family's diet with the proper balance of fruits and vegetables."

Referring to the recent national publicity the local club has received the speaker said that the Mansfield Health for Victory club members were leading the way in showing the nation that the biggest war job women can do is right in the kitchen.

To illustrate oven canning, Mrs. Kiene prepared tomatoes, an acid vegetable, by first blanching—plunging into cold water—and then following the necessary succeeding steps until the vegetable is removed from the oven after 75 minutes at 250 degrees. Similarly all steps were demonstrated for canning in pressure cookers and by the water bath method.

"Two rules hold the secret to successful canning," she explained, "first the selection of young food in its prime condition: and second, allowing the shortest possible time between picking the vegetable and canning it—a good rule is two hours from vine to can."

Quickly reviewing the rules of "Vitamized" cooking for the greatest vitamin retention, the home economics authority demonstrated that proper canning methods can follow these same protective cooking principles. "There's no point in canning," she said, "if the food won't be full of health. The objective is preserve the greatest amount of vitamins and minerals in canning."

A short patriotic movie titled "Let's Show Them" produced by the labor-management committee of the East Pittsburgh Westinghouse plant was shown at the conclusion of Mrs. Kiene's presentation. Meal Planning Guides for June, complete menu and recipe services, were distributed at the close of the meeting.

Attending the meeting were two special guests: Ada Bessie Swann, director of the home service center of Woman's Home Companion, New York City, and Dorothy Ellen Jones, supervisor of home economics for the Cleveland board of education.

The next monthly meeting is scheduled for June 25, in the company auditorium.

SEMPER FIDELIS CLUB.

Semper Fidelis club met recently at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, Gibson avenue. Nine members were present. Prizes in bingo were won by Mrs. J. C. Edwards and Mrs. Gurney Marshall. Luncheon was served. Decorations were peonies. Mrs. Marshall will entertain at her home on South Franklin street on June 9.

Install Officers, Discuss Art At P.T.A. Meeting

Last meeting of the year was held by Johnny Appleseed P.T.A. at the school Thursday evening. Mrs. G. C. Young, retiring president, conducted the business session. Installation of officers was in charge of Mrs. K. E. Buhr, president of the Mansfield Council of Parents and Teachers. Those who will serve during the coming year are L. J. Londot, president; Nelson Neff, first vice president; Mrs. T. L. Hockett, second vice president; Mrs. F. T. Wendt, secretary; and Mrs. Russell Young, treasurer.

Members voted to present Mrs. Young with a past president's pin. Program topic presented by three teachers was "Art in Our Schools." Mrs. Florence Robison Straits, art supervisor, was introduced by John Correll, program chairman. She spoke on the "Creative Ability of Art," explaining that the desire for beauty makes a happier child and art enriches the whole horizon.

Miss Virginia Stark told of "The Responsibility of Art." She told how the art department helps in school activities and displayed the Johnny Appleseed seal designed by two of the students. Miss Helen Herring, specialist in clay work, discussed "How Art Is Essential in Every Day Life." She spoke of its service to man and stated that it raises the standard of living and stimulates the imagination. Students demonstrated various types of art in the class rooms.

Mrs. Hockett reported that the P.T.A. had contributed drapes to the two teachers' rest rooms at the school. On behalf of the Pan-American club and the ninth grade, Mr. Correll presented G. W. Harmony with two war bonds to be used by the school. The P.T.A. also voted to contribute to the USO.

Wedding Date Told At Party

A party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wehinger, 376 West Fifth street, recently to announce the approaching marriage of their daughter Agnes, to John Robert Marker, son of Mrs. Roy Marker, 145 Hammond avenue. Date for the wedding is June 27. Fifteen guests attended the party. Pink and white appointments were used on the luncheon table.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Loretta Fink, Mrs. David Naser and Miss Patricia O'Leary. A gift for the bedroom was presented to the bride-to-be by her mother, sister and sister-in-law.

To Serve As Colony Club Officers

Newly elected officers of the Colony club, which met yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, are shown in the above photo. Left to right they are Mrs. J. N. Ritter, treasurer; Mrs. J. H. Ward, vice president; Mrs. D. W. Meyer, secretary; Mrs. J. C. Lewin, president; and Mrs. H. Wayne Hoffman, corresponding secretary. Forty-nine members of the club recently completed and sent out 100 toddlers' packs for the Red Cross. A total of nearly 3,000 hours has been devoted by the women to Red Cross work.

Party Honors Recent Bride

Honoring Mrs. Woodrow Cline, a recent bride, Mrs. Robert Walker of Crestline entertained recently at the home of Mrs. G. T. Flohr, 132 Home avenue. Fourteen guests spent the evening playing cards. Prizes were won by Mrs. Tom Thrush and Mrs. William Nelson and were presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Cline, the former Martha Flohr, was recipient of a shower of miscellaneous gifts from the guests and a gift of crystal from the hostesses. Refreshments were served at a long table decorated in pink and white appointments and lighted tapers. Centerpiece was of mixed flowers. Miniature brides marked the guests' places at the table.

Colony Club Completes 100 Toddlers' Packs

Nearly 3,000 hours have been devoted by 49 members of the Colony club to Red Cross work. The women have completed and sent out 100 toddlers' packs and each worker has been given an army rank for her work. Mrs. J. P. Donohoe, chairman of the project, was given the rank of "General." In recognition of her work Mrs. Donohoe was presented with a Red Cross pin. Many of the club members have completed and passed first aid courses conducted by Vern Hoffman.

At the meeting of the club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel on Thursday, plans were made to have picnics and a variety of outdoor meetings during the summer. Two newcomers were welcomed by the organization. They are Mrs. P. E. Holder from Cleveland and Mrs. C. D. Dennis from Toledo. Mrs. P. A. Schaefer of Dayton was a guest. The Colony club helps newcomers to become acquainted in Mansfield and to become an intricate part of the community.

Sales tax stamps will serve as admission tickets for the next meeting which will be held at Prospect park pavilion. This will be a "Get-Acquainted" party. Hostesses will be Mrs. Frederick Thaler, Mrs. Vern Hoffman and Mrs. F. P. Ritchie.

Picnic Planned By Earnest Workers

The home of Mrs. Harry Balliet, 468 Wayne street, was meeting place recently of the Earnest Workers class of the Park Avenue Baptist church. Mrs. Harvey Myers was associate hostess. Sixteen members were in attendance. Mrs. O. P. Wervey conducted the business session in the absence of the president, Mrs. Sherman Skaggs.

Plans were made to have a picnic on July 28 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hout, R. D. 2. Devotions were led by W. K. Dise. P. M. Wooden gave a talk on "Conditions of Today and the War." Remainder of the evening was spent socially. Refreshments were served.

SORORITY TO HAVE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Names Drawn for Matches at Meeting Thursday; Group Plans to Help In USO Drive; First Copies of Paper Distributed.

SIGMA KAPPA GAMMA sorority met last evening at the home of Miss Dorothy Blackstone, 233 Bartley avenue. Miss Charlotte Brightbill was associate hostess. Plans were made for a tennis tournament to be staged by the sorority during the summer months. Names were drawn for matches to be played before the next regular business meeting. Miss Helen Desterhaft is in charge of arrangements.

The members also volunteered their services to the U. S. O. drive which will be held in Mansfield June 1 through 15. Sigma Kappa Gamma members will attend the meeting to be held Monday evening at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for all helping with the drive. Miss Janet Wilson was appointed sergeant-at-arms to complete the unexpired term of Mrs. Richard James, who has moved to Canton. Miss Blackstone was appointed corresponding secretary to fill the vacancy when Mrs. Raymond Jurgens moved to Houston, Tex., where she will live with her mother while her husband is in military service. Report was made on the sale of greeting cards.

The sorority paper, "The Tattler," was distributed to the members. Copies will be sent to all members who have recently moved out of the city to keep them informed of the activities of the group. Editors for the first edition were Miss Dorothy Kelly and Miss Blackstone. Committee appointed to edit the paper next month consists of Miss Helen Lanzen and Miss Brightbill.

Refreshments were served from a long table attractively decorated with a yellow floral centerpiece and tall blue and yellow tapers. Next social meeting will be held June 11 at the home of Miss Eileen Minard, South Boulevards. Miss Kathryn Landfair will assist.

Sorority Plans Victory Garden, Monthly Paper

Plans for a victory garden were completed at last night's meeting of Beta Kappa Tau sorority at Prospect park pavilion. Social committee named for the month of June is comprised of Mrs. William Knarr, chairman, Miss Eleanor Ropp, Mrs. Herbert Palmer, and the Misses Maxine Rimmer, Maxine Pearson and Wilma Sauder.

On June 10 the Mansfield members will be guests of the Shelby chapter at a wiener roast to be held in Shelby. Miss Ruby Bollman was appointed editor-in-chief of the sorority paper which will be sent each month to friends and members out of town and to those who are ill. Recipient of the club prize was Mrs. Leslie Snyder.

During the meeting decision was made to hold the summer business sessions at the homes of members instead of at regular meeting places. A "backwards party" was enjoyed during the social hour. Lunch was served in reverse order from the usual procedure. Members were seated at small tables. Hostesses were Miss Elaine Downs, Mrs. John Dunn, Marjorie Dune, Miss Louise Enderle, Miss Rose Huck and Miss Ruth Gable.

Prizes in bridge, five tables of which were in play, were won by Mrs. Wayne Terry and Miss Ruth Schuck. Hostess for the meeting June 11 will be Mrs. George Burgess, East First street.

CITY'S THEATERS OPEN DRIVE BOOSTING STAMP, BOND SALES

Mansfield motion picture theaters will join with other motion picture houses throughout the state and nation Saturday in launching an all-out campaign to sell U. S. war savings stamps and bonds for the duration of the war.

Grattan Johnston, city manager of the three local Warner Brothers' theaters has been named Richland county chairman for the campaign that will be conducted daily in Mansfield at the Ohio, Madison, Park and Ritz theaters. Marlin Smith, Toledo theater owner, is chairman of the state committee.

War savings stamps in 10, 25 and 50-cent denominations will be sold at all times and patrons will be encouraged to take their change, or part of it, in stamps. Orders for bonds will be taken by the theater cashiers and forwarded to the Farmers bank for mailing to the federal reserve in Cleveland.

Special booths and attendants will be on duty at all theaters Decoration day, the opening day, also Sunday, and again on Saturday and Sunday of each week. The sale throughout the week will be handled by the regular cashier.

Conducted under the auspices of the War Activities Committee of the Motion Picture Industry the campaign is the outgrowth of mobilization of the 15,000 motion picture theaters throughout the country by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

The nation-wide participation of the industry in war savings stamp and bond sales is expected to obtain thousands of dollars for the war effort, for, as the county chairman explained, the theaters are probably open more hours a day for stamp sales than any other store or business place.

Parents Opposed Girl's Marriage, Now Must Help

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Our daughter was engaged to a young man two years before he was drafted. They did not marry because he felt his salary was not enough to give her the kind of home she had been used to. After he entered the Army we opposed her seeing him, feeling that his salary of $21 a month made the situation worse than ever. Now we have to face the consequences of preventing the marriage of two young people devotedly in love with each other.

The trouble is we don't know whether this soldier is living or dead, or even where he is. We think he went to Australia but we're not sure, as my daughter's letters have not been answered. We must stand by her, her father and I, when her child is born because we feel partly responsible for what has happened. What steps would you advise?

UNHAPPY.

Write to the Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C. Give the young man's name and serial number, and you will be informed if he is among the missing. There's a distinction between hasty marriages in war time, and those which have merely been speeded up. I'm not going to say what you should have done, and I wish I could give your letter in full, but that's impossible.

There's a Florence Crittenton Home in Chicago, 2615 Indiana Avenue. Have your daughter make arrangements to be entered. I sincerely hope you will stop harassing her about her condition. Don't you honestly think your own attitude had a good deal to do with it?

* * *

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Four months ago I met a young man of 22, who is in the Army. We have seen quite a bit of each other during this time, and recently he proposed to me. I'm not 18 years old yet, and think I'm too young to consider marriage. Also, I'm uncertain of my love for him, because there's another boy.

About a year and a half ago I went "steady" with a boy three years older than myself, who has since joined the Navy. Therefore, I haven't seen much of him but we correspond. I do think a lot of him.

Some of my friends say I'm two-timing and that I ought to make up my mind about one or the other. Do you think I'm doing wrong in keeping up with both of them? I want to keep both of these young men as friends and since I'm only 17, there's no hurry for a decision, is there?

B. J.

At 17 you strike me as more sensible than the friends who insist you should make up your mind one way or the other. You're not engaged to either of these young men and are, under the circumstances, free to go out with both or accept the attentions of still others. You're not in love with either. Hasty matrimonial decisions at 17 are highly ill-advised.

* * *

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My sister is going to be married shortly, and instead of asking me to be her bridesmaid, she is going to have her fiance's sister stand up with her. Do you think this is the proper thing to do?

It is usual to have one's sister as bridesmaid. I don't see why she doesn't have you both as attendants at her wedding. I hope it's not too late for her to change her arrangements and include you.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I gave Ronald a cold, steady look as he flung out his impassioned accusation, and he had the grace to flush.

"I don't mean that, of course, Auntie Madge," he said. "I know everything possible is being done. But," he reiterated, "she is in terrible danger, isn't she?"

"Yes, Ronald, she is," I said, deciding that swift surgery was best for him.

"That's what's driving me wild," he said, "to know that I'm so helpless."

"You are not helpless," I told him sharply, "and there are many things you can do to help my father in the next few days. But you must become almost an automaton, ready to obey without question any order he gives you. Can you do that?"

"I can, and I will," he said.

"Then I will tell you," I said, "that while Marion is in terrible danger, we are sure that no harm to her is imminent, and valuable new clues are falling into my father's hands every day."

"Tell me, please," he said. "I won't break out again."

"In the first place," I said, "the whole thing is too big for only Marion to be involved. She is simply a pawn on a chess board on which so far we can only guess the men and the projected moves."

Lurking Spider.

I stopped at that, with a remembrance of the "listening post" in the Lansfield I had discovered. I did not believe that many clues had been uttered, even in camouflaged language, over the hotel telephone, but if they had I was sure they were now in the possession of the lurking spider, whoever he might be, who was at the center of that gigantic web, in one corner of which was trapped our hapless Marion.

But there was no use revealing my uneasy suspicion to the frightened boy facing me. Instead, I told him as quickly as possible of my adventure on the train with the gangster who had telephoned his sister Carolyn, and who had tried to secure Marion's letter, of which he must have learned by a tapped telephone in Dalemont. Then I went on to tell of the man who had entered my room at the Lansfield and tried to get the letter from me, almost murdering me in the thwarted attempt. Next I recapitulated the story to which he had paid little attention, of the gangsers who had broken into the Underwood home and wounded Harry Underwood, then finished the account with a story of my journey to the home of Professor Diswell.

Held Incommunicado.

"Uncle Dicky saw to it that the collegiate gangster was picked up by state troopers," I said, "and he has been held incommunicado ever since."

"That was the one who telephoned Carolyn, wasn't it?" Ronald asked breathlessly.

"Yes, it was," I answered. "I think you can now put him out of your mind. He never will trouble Carolyn again."

"Thank God for that!" Ronald said fervently. "But, Auntie Madge, you don't think she is infatuated with him, do you?"

"Not now," I said emphatically. "I don't know what her previous feeling toward him may have been, but now I am sure it is only fear."

"I'll choke the truth out of him some time with my bare hands," Ronald said hoarsely. "But go on, please. I'm sorry to have interrupted you."

Tells About Gangsters.

"I'm glad you did," I told him, "for that point is now cleared up for you. But you also should know that the gangster who choked me in the hotel, those who came to the Underwood house and these six we have just brought down to New York are all in custody, while their superiors are wondering what has become of them.

"And, I repeat, we are sure nothing will happen to Marion so long as they think they still can get from her information about Jack Bickett's whereabouts."

"But," he said in evident bewilderment, "suppose they find Jack Bickett for themselves?"

"They can't," I told him with smiling assurance.

"Because," I said, Jack Bickett is even now safe from discovery in another apartment of this house. You saw him just now."

THEATERS

Dramatic Story.

Bette Davis has another dynamic role in her new production, "In This Our Life," opening Saturday at the Ohio. George Brent, Dennis Morgan and Olivia De Havilland appear with the star who is cast as a selfish, inconsiderate woman who wouldn't stop at murder if she thought it would benefit her. Miss De Havilland plays the sister and George Brent has the part of the man to whom Miss Davis is engaged and whom she casts aside for her sister's fiance.

* * *

Nazi Invasion.

"The Invaders," Madison attraction opening Saturday, stars Leslie Howard, Laurence Olivier and Raymond Massey in the graphic story of a democratic people engaged in fighting reaction to the arguments and terrorism of a small band of Nazis stranded in Canada. The action takes place prior to America's entry into the war and deals with the efforts of the enemy to steal into the United States. Howard appears as an author trying to escape the world's turmoil. Olivier is cast as a trapper, and Massey has the part of a Canadian soldier gone AWOL. "Butch Minds the Baby," with Brod Crawford is the second feature.

* * *

Lively Comedy.

Monty Woolley has the title role in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the Ritz attraction. The plot deals with the three-ring circus into which a literary light turns a normal American household where he is forced to remain as a guest after an accident. Bette Davis and Ann Sheridan are in the cast. The Range Busters are featured in "Underground Rustlers," the co-feature.

* * *

Enemy Plot.

Enemy activity focused on smuggling a deadly gas out of America to aid a foreign power motivates the plot of "SOS Coast Guard," the Park attraction. Bela Lugosi portrays the sinister inventor of the poison gas while Ralph Byrd and Maxine Doyle play the cameraman and reporter who apprehend him. Ralph Byrd has the role of a coast guard lieutenant. The East Side Kids are featured in "Let's Get Tough," the second feature with Tom Brown.

* * *

Familiar Story.

"Robin Hood," with Errol Flyn and Olivia de Havilland, opens at the Majestic Saturday. Johnny Mack Brown is starred in the second picture, "Stagecoach Buckaroo."

MOVIE EXECUTIVE TOPS LIST OF HIGHEST PAID IN NATION

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA — Louis B. Mayer, the 57-year-old Russian-born movie executive who began his career as a Massachusetts theater operator, topped the field of America's highest paid executives again last year with an income of $704,425.60 as managing director of production for Loew's, Inc.

Trailing far behind Mayer, who received $7,373 more than in 1940 and whose 1941 remuneration included $548,425.60 as either bonus or share in profits, were a host of other motion picture executives, actors and actresses, industrialists and businessmen, a survey of annual reports filed with the securities and exchange commission showed today.

Clark Gable, motion picture star, received $357,500 from Loew's for second place, and Nicholas M. Schenck was paid $384,294.54 as president and director of Loew's.

Many of the annual reports, however, have been held up by the SEC for possible censorship purposes. Included in this group are Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, who was second in 1940 with $478,144 and other top ranking steel magnates whose firms are engaged in war production.

The figures do not represent the largest incomes in the United States since many persons who serve with small salaries or no salaries have big returns from investments.

Scores of the remunerations were well over the $25,000 which President Roosevelt told congress last month ought to represent a limit on individual net incomes for the duration of the war.

Aggregate remunerations paid and the companies as listed in the report included:

Pure Oil company — Henry M. Dawes, president, $65,000; R. W. McIlvain, vice president, $60,000; Rawleigh Worner, vice president and treasurer, $51,400.

American Rolling Mill company —Charles R. Hook, president and director, $86,425; Calvin Verity, vice president, general manager and director, $63,378; A. W. Sebald, vice president and assistant general manager, $46,092; R. L. Gray, director and president of Sheffield Steel corporation, $50,070; J. C. Shepherd, vice president, Sheffield Steel, $33,393; E. A. Amerson, president, ARMCO International corporation, $42,991.

Bucyrus-Erie company—W. W. Coleman, president and chairman, $65,051. G. A. Morrison, vice president and director, $42,355.

Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co.—J. D. Biggers, president, $60,150, D. H. Goodwillie, vice president, $48,350.

Anchor Hocking Glass Co.—I. J. Collins, president, $50,000, William V. Fisher, vice president and general manager, $45,000. Paul Bateson, manufacturers representative, $57,340.

Ohio Oil company—C. D. Donnell, president and general manager, $45,000.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T COVER BLINDLY

Any good bridge teacher will take a healthy wallop at the old Whist maxims upon every possible occasion. "Always cover an honor with an honor" is probably the worst of these when mis-applied to Bridge. A better revision would be: "Never cover an honor with an honor unless the apparent situation makes it seem that doing so will enable your pair to take more tricks than if you did not cover it.

	♠ 7 6 5 3 ♥ J 8 7 5 ♦ 10 8 ♣ K 6 5
♠ 9 4 ♥ K 10 ♦ Q 5 3 ♣ Q 10 9 8 7 3	W. N. E. S.	♠ A K Q 10 ♥ 9 4 3 ♦ J 7 4 ♣ A J 2
	♠ J 8 2 ♥ A Q 6 2 ♦ A K 9 6 2 ♣ 4

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	1 NT	Pass	3 NT

It was really a shame to watch North on this deal, an old-time Whist player, use his obsolete weapon to the disadvantage of his own side. He was just as badly clipped as if he attacked a machine gun nest with a slingshot, crossbow, scimitar or blunderbuss. After he led the diamond 10 for South to take the A and K, and West captured the third diamond, the stage was set for his lapse.

West led the club Q, and North, without a moment's thought, but impelled by force of habit, put on the K, which was dropped by the A. West now had nothing to do but run the rest of the clubs and spades for a total of eleven consecutive tricks.

After the deal, North explained that he thought he might set up a possible club 10 in his partner's hand by covering the Q. For that to be possible, however, South would have had to hold three clubs, in which case West would have had only four, and so probably would not have led the suit, but very likely something else.

With the more probable situation which existed, North should have foreseen that he almost surely could have blocked the suit by holding up the K. West would have thrown dummy's J under his Q, next would have led his 10, North ducked again, and the K would have locked West then in the dummy on the third club. The spades could have been run, but they would have brought West's total to only eight tricks. When he then led the heart toward the K, South could have taken the A plus two diamonds, beating the contract.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ A J 10 ♥ K Q 9 7 4 ♦ A K 2 ♣ 8 3
♠ Q 8 7 6 ♥ 10 6 3 2 ♦ Q J ♣ A 10 7	W. N. E. S.	♠ 9 5 4 3 ♥ 8 5 ♦ 9 8 ♣ K Q 9 6 2
	♠ K 2 ♥ A J ♦ 10 7 6 5 4 3 ♣ J 5 4

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

If North and South bid both hearts and diamonds before South gets into 3-No Trumps, what farfetched reason might West have for preferring a lead of clubs to spades?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, May 30.

Perplexities and problems dominate so many activities of this day that it may be set down as doubtful. However, there may be much of a pleasant and productive nature in purely personal and social relations and there is some hope of overcoming adverse conditions by ignoring them for greater values. There may be little to expect from recognition or support from those in high places although friendly or more intimate ties may spell success.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter contradictory situations in which problems and perplexities may have to be solved by personal prestige, efficiency and influence rather than business acumen. Some in important positions may be inclined to opposition or antagonism, but the friendship or cordiality may be used to advantage with others. There should be happiness and good comradeship, with festivity and warmth.

A child born on this day should have much ability and efficiency perhaps of an intellectual, professional, cultural or social nature rather than business sagacity.

Managers of Mansfield softball teams who have had their troubles this season trying to line up, and keep athletes for the season, while those same athletes were leaving daily for armed service or defense work, shouldn't feel so badly.

In fact they should feel very happy over whatever success they've had thus far in putting a team on the field.

Here's a case in point that tends to prove the fact, as we legally minded gents are accustomed to remark.

* * *

Several weeks ago when Johnny Villella first started booking games for his Mansfield All-Stars, he wrote to the Toledo Page Dairies, giving them the choice of several dates.

The Dairies accepted Sunday, June 7, for their Mansfield appearance.

Now Villella gets a letter from the Dairies saying they can't get enough players together, and that they won't even have a team in the field this summer.

* * *

* * *

"You should have been along with us on our last week-end trip to Delaware and Columbus," says "Doc" Daugherty, manager of the state champion Provident Loan girl softballers.

And then "Doc" recounted a tale of woe that showed clearly the reason for the three defeats handed the Providents on the trip.

* * *

"Ev Jocha got a jammed finger. We thought it was broken and took her to a doctor, but found that she had broken a blood vessel. Fran Knapp's famous charley-horse played a return engagement. Peters and Whiteman got hurt and had to be taken out of the lineup. And several other girls came up with sore arms.

"It's a good thing we took the kids along," says "Doc," "or we couldn't have played at all."

And I should have been there, he says. I'd have been killed in that blitzkrieg.

* * *

It probably would be a bit crude to advise the gals to get in shape. So let's consider the advice ungiven.

* * *

And it was only a couple days before that famous trip that Ruth Whiteman, the horse-faller-offer, was telling me I should report the famous horse-back ride of Ev Jocha.

"And did she do a Prince of Wales?" I asked her.

"No," says Whitie, "she stayed on the horse, all right, but she's all black and blue."

"And how would I be supposed to know that?" I queried.

"You can tell 'em I told you," responded Whitie.

And there you have it.

Gee-Gees Go At Thistle Down

CLEVELAND —(INS)— With the originator of the Puett starting gate—Clay Puett—acting as official starter, a field of thoroughbreds will open Thistle Down race track's 31-day meeting tomorrow.

Entire gate receipts of the inaugural program will be turned over to the Army and Navy relief funds, the USO and the Red Cross, according to General Manager Ed Strong.

The gee-gees will be off in the first race at 2:15 p. m. while twilight racing will prevail daily except Saturday's thereafter.

The mile racing strip at Warrensville has been manicured to a degree that should speed the horses to new track records.

Heading opening day's eight-race program will be the $1,500 Hotel Cleveland handicap over the one mile and 40-yard route. At six furlongs the bangtails will race for the $1,000 Thistle Down inaugural handicap and a four and one-half furlong event for two-year-olds will bring the winner the $800 Decoration Day purse.

The meeting will close on the Fourth of July.

GAME SCHEDULED

Red Sox Lose on Road Trips

Drop 12 of Last 17 Games Away From Home.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE Boston Red Sox come close to being the worst road team in the Major leagues and this malady, which has kept them from resembling pennant contenders in the past, now has placed even their first division berth in jeopardy.

The Red Sockers are a first class outfit at Boston. It's only when they venture away from home that they stumble.

* * *

The Cronin clouters were stopped 5-1 by the Washington Senators at the capital last night and now have lost 12 of their last 17 encounters, all but three away from home.

* * *

This slump, which contrasts with Boston's feat in winning 14 of its first 21 games while playing mostly at home, has dropped the club within a game of the fifth-place St. Louis Browns.

Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees extended his current hitting streak to 13 games yesterday, and the Champs won a 3-2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics. Gordon rapped a single with the bases loaded and the score tied in the ninth.

Virgil (Fire) Trucks, strikeout king of International league last year, pitched his first complete game for the Detroit Tigers and held the Cleveland Indians to four hits for a 6-2 victory.

The St. Louis Browns rallied for four runs in the eighth inning to beat the Chicago White Sox 6-4 and gain their sixth victory in seven games. A double by Rick Ferrell knocked in the deciding runs.

* * *

The Brooklyn Dodgers set down the Boston Braves again 6-4, with Kirby Higbe pitching seven-hit ball and choking off a Boston rally that netted three runs in the ninth, two on a homer by Max West.

* * *

The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of this to strengthen their hold on second place in the National league with a 3-2 eleven-inning triumph over the faltering Pittsburgh Pirates, who now have lost 11 of their last 13 games.

Big Bill Lee, making a fine comeback this season, achieved his seventh victory by holding the Cincinnati Reds to six hits as the Chicago Cubs forged to a 2-1 triumph in 12 innings. Lee himself knocked in the winning run with a long fly.

College Track Meet Opened

MacMitchell and Ewell Placed in Star Roles.

NEW YORK—(AP)—It was New York university and Leslie MacMitchell against Penn State and Barney Ewell today as the 66th annual intercollegiate A. A. A. track and field championships opened their two-day stand at Triborough stadium.

N. Y. U., defending the outdoor crown it won for the first time last year, was expected to get its stiffest competition from Penn State, which won the IC4A indoor championship for the first time last March, but each pinned its title hopes on its sparkling individual stars.

MacMitchell and Ewell will be ending their varsity careers along with big Al Blozis, Georgetown's shot put and discus champ. For three years this trio has been as dependable as the tide. Among them they have won a total of 26 IC4A titles.

Ewell is shooting for an unprecedented triple-triple. Unbeaten in previous outdoor meets, he has won the broad jump and both the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes the past two years.

MacMitchell has won ten individual titles, will be defending his mile and half-mile crowns and will anchor the mile relay team.

CANTON ENDS LONG CHARLESTON STREAK

DAYTON—(AP)—Dayton, playing for the first time this season under the field generalship of club President Ducky Holmes, pulled out of the Mid-Atlantic league cellar last night by winning a doubleheader from Springfield. The Ducks took the opener 4 to 1 and the nightcap 12 to 9. Catcher Chervinko managed the team previously.

Larry Bridges pitched Canton to a 5 to 4 win over Charleston, handing the Senators their first loss in nine starts. Erie defeated Zanesville 8 to 5.

Two Teams Tie For Lead

Printers and Tuckers Deadlocked in B-Loop.

Mansfield Printing and Tucker Furnitures went into a deadlock for first place in The News-Journal "B" golf league last evening, each chalking up 3-2 victories at Possum Run.

Tinkey Lumber moved into undisputed possession of third place with a 4-1 win, while Bissman's scored a 3-2 decision.

Rev. Grover Swoyer took medal honors for the evening with a two-over-par 38, while Al Heath was right behind him with an even 40.

Boat Club To Stage Regatta

Pleasant Hill Racers Omit Admission Charge.

Pleasant Hill Boat club Sunday afternoon opens an enlarged summer schedule of motor boat regattas over the club's one-mile course at Pleasant Hill lake.

* * *

Last year the club staged only two regattas, with tickets sold at 10 cents each for spectators viewing the races from craft in the lake.

* * *

Recently directors of the club decided on a regular schedule of regattas for the summer, and voted to stage the races free of charge to the spectators as a patriotic gesture. With motor travel reduced to a minimum because of tire rationing and likely gasoline rationing, the club decided it could do something toward providing outdoor entertainment close at hand by omitting the spectator charge.

The Pleasant Hill club this season has more boats and more drivers than ever before, the lake is 12 feet higher than a year ago, and the club grounds have been improved and new docks installed.

* * *

Sunday will find five races conducted in two heats each, of six laps around the 1-mile course. The races, starting at 2 p. m. are:

* * *

22 horsepower—Shaus, Hesston, Bass, Burgess, Wolfe, Jones, Myers, Coleman, Bender and Knapp, Mansfield; Beathler, Perrysville.

33 horsepower—Miller, Mansfield; Mahaffee Fredericktown; and Leedy, Bellville.

Inboard—Stutz, Bissman, Owen, Morgan, Roos, Rummel and Healy, Mansfield; Cowell, Perrysville, Hart, Ashland; Yuncker, Wooster, and Dotson, Mt. Vernon.

A free-for-all event will conclude the program.

Ohio Conference Looks For Tires

SPRINGFIELD—(AP)—Ohio conference officials believe intercollegiate athletics have a vital role in the war effort and plan to ask for tires for vehicles transporting teams next fall.

John B. Van Why, Wittenberg college athletic director, representing the conference, said he plans to ask Washington officials for priority ratings on new and recapped tires.

* * *

He cited the stress placed by the army and navy on physical education and said he believed other organized groups would ask for tires soon.

* * *

Van Why estimated that a full physical education program could be conducted with a minimum of two sets of tires for each vehicle used to convey players and equipment.

Ohio Trapshooters Aim at Purse of $2,100 on June 5

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The Ohio trapshooting association will unlock its treasure box at the 55th annual state championships here June 5, 6 and 7, to distribute $2,100 in added money to the high guns in the Buckeye scattergun races.

A year ago the Ohio association presented the biggest state shoot ever held anywhere, with 286 marksmen entered, and with 46,000 targets thrown the final day over eight traps. The latter figure is a record for a state meet.

Some of the greatest stars the clay target game has ever seen will be among the competitors, but Van Smith, proxy of the Columbus Gun club, said there would be plenty of prize money to go around.

Among the hot-shots will be Joe Hiestand, the Hillsboro farmer who holds the 16-yard long run record of 1179 clays, and who has won every big-time title except the Grand American Handicap; Karl Maust, the Columbus luminary who won the state singles and all-around races a year ago, and then out-shot all the other state champions at the Grand American to take the coveted "Champion of Champions" crown, and Mark Hootman, the Hicksville veteran who hit the heights back in 1913 by winning the sport's blue-ribbon classic, the Grand American Handicap, and who will defend the state handicap championship.

The association is offering $775 added money in the singles race, 200 targets at 16 yards; $700 added in the class championships over the same route; $150 added in the handicap, 100 targets from 17 to 25 yards, and $100 added in the doubles race of 50 pairs.

In addition to those events the program offers a women's championship and a junior title race, the latter for shooters under 18, each competition to be 200 targets at 16 yards. Also up for decision is the five-man team title, with competitors named on a zone basis. Five high guns will make up the Ohio team to compete at the Grand American program in August.

"We expect another record-breaking entry," Smith declared. "With tire rationing already on, and a gasoline ban expected by July 1, it looks as if the later shoots might be handicapped in attendance. But, here's a chance for the boys to spend a three-day week-end vacation, do plenty of shooting, and make expenses at the same time."

Sugar Take Booed Verdict

Low Punches Nearly End Robinson's Win Streak.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson still sports the longest winning streak in recent fistic history today, but only because a referee saw one low punch where most ringsiders saw two—and booed.

There was no doubt about the booing by the 13,673 customers who sat in Madison Square Garden last night, both when the low punches were struck in the second round, and again after the fight, when Robinson was announced the winner of a ten-round decision over baby-faced Marty Servo from Uncle Sam's Coast Guard.

* * *

The close verdict gave Robinson a winning streak of 121 straight fights—89 as an amateur and 32 as a pro.

* * *

It also established him as the outstanding welterweight in the ring today.

However, without the referee's penalty in the second round, Ray would have had a lot tougher time winning from the Schenectady slugger who carried the fight to him all the way. In the second heat, Robinson struck low first, and the jeers went up. Before the end of the session, Marty also knocked one into the rough. Servo was penalized.

Duke Nalon Enters Race

Third Indianapolis Veteran Signed Up.

ASHLAND—A third member of the Indianapolis 500-mile field of last year today announced his entry for the seven event mid-season championship auto race program scheduled for the Ashland county fairground half-mile oval Decoration Day afternoon.

He is Iron Duke Nalon of Chicago, the reformed bartender, who has faced the best drivers in the country both on the big speedways and the midget circuits.

* * *

Nalon, now employed as a defense worker in Detroit and racing only on his offtime, holds several sectional championships. He has raced on every major track in the country including several of the famed 500-mile classics and the International at Roosevelt Raceway, New York.

* * *

In the 1940 500-mile grind Nalon ran 377 miles among the leaders before being forced out with motor trouble. Last year he qualified the No. 17 Elgin Piston Ring Special at an average of 122.237 miles per hour but went out of competition early in the race with magneto trouble.

The other two perennial Indianapolis entrants listed for competition here are the defending Ohio flat track champion, Paul Russo of Kenosha, Wis., who averaged 125.217 miles per hour, fifth fastest qualifying mark, and finished ninth last year, and Mel Hansen of Los Angeles who took ninth place in the 1940 classic, qualified at 124.559 last year, but broke up early.

First race of the Fairground Memorial Day championship program will start promptly at 3 o'clock. Former world-record holder Johnny Wohlfeil of Detroit and five sectional champions will be in the field taking the starting flag.

SHUTE COMES HOME FOR EXHIBITION

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Denny Shute, one of golfdom's famous "play for pay" linksters, will return to the scene of his earlier triumphs next week, and as a "house-warming" or "reacquainting" measure, will play an exhibition match Tuesday afternoon, June 3, at Scioto Country club.

The exhibition will be a 100 per cent charity affair with proceeds going to the Children's hospital. Included in the exhibition will be three other Columbus golfers, as yet not named.

Indians Face Tiger Threat

Detroit Beats Tribe, Now Only Game Behind.

DETROIT—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians looked over their shoulders today to find the Detroit Tigers only a game behind them, and reflected especially on their current crop of errors.

* * *

The four-hit pitching of the Detroit rookie right-hander, Virgil Trucks, had something to do with the Tribe's 6 to 2 defeat yesterday, but so did their habitual misplays.

* * *

It was the seventh setback in the last eight games for the Indians, and in six of those seven losses they have made from one to three errors. In most cases the boners have been expensive, often costing the game.

Official records have not been Cleveland's only trouble, for along with them have been some weird antics which failed to get into the box score.

In the first inning yesterday, for example, Les Fleming lost Murray Franklin's pop fly in the sun and it went for a single. Then on Doc Cramer's bunt toward first, Al Milnar got in the way of Fleming as the latter tried to tag Cramer. After Barney McCoskey had sacrificed, Rudy York had been passed to fill the bases, Don Ross flied out.

* * *

But when Pinky Higgins rolled to Lou Boudreau, Oscar Grimes stopped the relay on an attempted force play and two runs were scored.

* * *

Detroit was in command the rest of the way.

Champs Hold Ashland Jinx

Providents Have Game Presented to Them.

Ashland girl softballers must be convinced by now that the Mansfield Provident Loans hold a jinx over them. They came close to beating the state champs a time or two last season, only to see the Providents come back with a game-winning rally late in the going.

Last night the Ashland Myers Cleaners had a 4-1 victory all sewed up going into the sixth at North Lake park, and then the Providents came to life and the Cleaners blew up. When it was all over the score was Mansfield 5, Ashland 4.

The Providents didn't give young Alice Iceman too good support in the field or at bat, and Ashland got to her for four runs in the first three innings before she was relieved on the hill by Fran Knapp.

In the meantime Brubaker limited Mansfield to one hit in the first five frames, a long triple by Jean Herrick leading off in the opening stanza, to pave the way for the first run.

A walk to Holda, a single by Schuster, and another single by Bessemer brought in two runs in the sixth, and the Providents added two more in the seventh with two out, without a hit.

With one down, Myers was safe on Koppler's error and went to second on a wild pitch. Knapp walked. Jocha ran for Myers. A walk to Herrick filled the bases. Jocha came in with the tying run on a wild pitch, and after Holda was called out on strikes, Ashland tossed the game away on what should have been an easy out at first retiring the side.

Schuster topped an easy roller down third base way, and the Ashlanders tried to make the play at the plate, the catcher finally tossing the ball into left field on a run-down, and Knapp crossed the plate with the winning marker.

The Providents go to Delaware tomorrow night to meet the Wilks Meats, and return home for one game at North Lake Sunday at 3 p. m. with Elyria Franks Bakery.

Pros Prepare War Campaign

Nation's Top Golfers To Help Relief Funds.

By GAYLE TALBOT

ATLANTIC CITY—(AP)—Figuring that tournament golf will be ended for the duration within six weeks, the professionals are getting ready to pitch in and carry on an organized country-wide campaign to raise funds for the Army and Navy Relief societies and the Red Cross.

Between rounds of their annual P. G. A. championship at the Seaview club here, they got together last night and agreed to shoot the works. President Ed Dudley announced that the association would contribute the services of its tournament manager, Fred Corcoran, to line up benefit matches and the players agreed to devote a good part of their time to the program.

* * *

Of the eight stars competing in quarter-final matches today, six agreed to place themselves at Corcoran's disposal. The other two, Corporal Jim Turnesa and Sammy Snead, already have signed with Uncle Sam's armed forces.

* * *

On the strength of their play so far, it looks like the tournament finalists on Sunday probably will be Sammy Snead and Ben Hogan. Byron Nelson, the pre-tournament favorite, appears to be threatened with one of his rare slumps.

Nelson held a 4-up lead over a veteran like Joe Kirkwood yesterday, and let himself be caught on the 32nd hole. He snapped out of it to win, 2 and 1. But he, himself, predicted Snead and Hogan would fight it out for the $2,000 first prize. Nelson meets Harry Cooper, the Minneapolis veteran, today.

Snead trounced Willie Goggin, 9 and 8, yesterday. Ed Dudley is his opponent today. Hogan beat Ky Laffoon, 9 and 8, and appeared to be too tough for Corporal Turnesa in the quarter-finals.

Joe Bestudik Hits For Gabby

(By Associated Press)

Manager Gabby Hartnett beamed today because Joe Bestudik's big bat showed signs of drawing Indianapolis into the American Association's first division.

* * *

As the Indians beat Kansas City 5-3 last night, Bestudik drove in two runs with a single in the first inning and poled out a home run in the fourth. It was his third homer of the season—as many as he manufactured all last season.

* * *

If Joe keeps it up, the Indians might climb out of the second division, says Gabby.

In other games in the loop, Minneapolis split a twin bill with Columbus, losing the opener, 2-1, and taking the afterpiece, 8-4, and Veteran Archie McKain pitched and batted Toledo to a 4-3 victory over St. Paul.

League leading Milwaukee was tripped, 3-1, by Louisville.

No games are scheduled today.

THE WAR TODAY

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt Mackenzie, Wide World war analyst, is being written in his absence by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

The main part of the battle of Kharkov is over without any clear-cut decision.

That was to be expected. It will take time to assess the effect of the tactical, preventive assault which Russian Marshal Timoshenko launched May 12 against the German armies of the Ukraine, which were poised to strike toward the Caucasus but were caught off balance before they could start.

Also it is too early to calculate the military meaning of the counter-attacks which the Germans have been conducting since May 19 to the south of the original battle area.

The Russian communiques, telling friend or enemy very little, make it clear that on the main front before Kharkov the Red army has dug into the positions it won in a fortified zone of great strength and depth.

Fighting of comparative violence continues around Izyum-Barenkova, 80 miles below Kharkov, where the Germans have attempted to envelop Timoshenko's left flank.

The Germans claim this already is completed and that they have trapped upwards of 165,000 prisoners and grandiose quantities of war materiel, but there is nothing at all to support such claims; indeed, the semi-official Russian battle-front dispatches, while generally not conclusive, indicate an unyielding, continuing Red army defense along the Donets river line.

Undocumented German claims of this sort remind one of a stack of phonograph recordings of the same opus; somewhat different, perhaps, in key and beat, but essentially identic.

Always there is the "battle of encirclement and annihilation," then the "outstanding victory," the fat figures on prisoners, tanks guns and aircraft captured or destroyed, which figures always are said to be "constantly growing." The invariable windup is that "the annihilation of remnants" of the "annihilated" foe is being continued "relentlessly."

Somewhere in between there usually is a phrase about "desperate but useless attempts" by the Russians to "break out."

This dogmatic double-talk went very well last summer, but in October, Dr. Otto Dietrich, Adolf Hitler's press chief, announced flatly that Russia's last fully able armies had been "annihilated" and her power to resist utterly destroyed at Bryansk and Vyazma, on the main approaches to Moscow.

Even the stupidest Nazi knows by now what a whopper that was.

Since January, however, the German people have been fed on promises of what would happen when the cruel, un-German snows of the steppes began to melt away.

The snows are gone and the fuehrer has to deliver—at least an "annihilation" by communique.

Biddle Invites Test of Bridges Ruling

ASSERTS OHIO RATION WORK BOGGING DOWN

State Administrator Blames OPA; Congressman Charges Politics Interfere.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—In the wake of charges in congress that politics impeded organization of Ohio's rationing program, Harry T. Beckmann, state rationing administrator, declared today that the Buckeye program was "bogging down."

Beckmann said tire and sugar rationing operations lagged because of uncertainties over the impending appointment of an office of price administration head to direct the state programs.

"We're getting behind and there isn't much that can be done until OPA names a state director," Beckmann observed. "Local boards are reluctant to go ahead with work that may be countermanded if some one else is appointed."

Beckmann was recommended by Gov. John W. Bricker for appointment to the $8,000-a-year job of Ohio OPA director but Leon Henderson, federal OPA administrator, has yet to make an official selection.

Congressman George H. Bender, Cleveland Republican, told the house yesterday that there was some foundation for Ohio reports that politics had prevented Beckmann's designation to the OPA post.

"It is time the bureaucrats here forget politics in the interest of the war effort," Bender declared. "Now that the position is to pay $8,000 a year, there is great interest in it."

Bricker also recommended M. A. Pixley, Franklin county rationing administrator, for the appointment after Henderson insisted on more than one nomination.

Beckmann was named state administrator last February to serve without pay. Attaches in his office said they had learned that a previous plan for the new OPA state director to name 14 well paid district heads had been changed until only five now were contemplated. Eventually all appointments may be shifted elsewhere, they added.

It will be necessary to have an orange ticket to enjoy the Newman school lawn fete tonight because no other color will be honored. The school hurriedly had orange tokens printed after it was discovered that about $16 worth of fawn-colored tickets had disappeared from a teacher's desk. The number of tickets taken threatened such a loss to the lawn fete treasury that new ducats were printed.

Workers in the municipal court wondered today if an out-of-town driver, arrested for speeding, was trying to string them along. When brought to their office yesterday, the driver produced a battered and torn operator's license and proceeded to read off information for the record. Curt Williams, deputy municipal clerk, became curious, examined the license, and learned that it had been issued in 1937. The driver insisted that the license was a 1942 issue but finally gave up after an examination with a magnifying glass established 1937 as the date.

Mansfield's blossoming flowers and Memorial day are going to coincide this time. The warm weather in April and unseasonable cold in May have combined to make the peonies, irises, and syringas look their best for the holiday. Mansfield gardens and lawns are colorful with them, making an ample supply for decorating purposes. It's too late, however, for lilacs and two early for the roses.

You may have heard about people building boats in their cellars and then being unable to remove them because they were too large. Well, L. S. (Mike) Pfister, assistant manager of the Mansfield Lumber company, reversed the procedure recently. Pfister built a closet in his garage on Western avenue, taking two days to complete the project. The closet was to be used to store his wheel-barrow and garden tools. The job completed, Pfister learned that the closet was too small to hold the wheel-barrow.

FIGHT OVER DEPORTATION 'JUST BEGUN'

CIO Leader Says Order Based on Prejudice; Ohio Eyes Communist Angle.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Biddle invited a supreme court test of his deportation order against Harry R. Bridges today as the west coast CIO leader announced he had "just begun to fight."

Biddle, reversing the board of immigration appeals yesterday with an order to send Bridges back to his native Australia because of alleged Communist party connections, said he wanted the courts to "pass on the whole procedure as a test case."

In San Francisco, Bridges, who has denied any connection with the Communist party, said Biddle's order was based on "misstatements, prejudice and perjured testimony which have characterized the entire case."

He telegraphed Donald Nelson, war production chief, a pledge to "do all possible to offset any effect it might have on the production program and labor unity."

"I ask the American workers not to become confused, or shocked," he said in a statement, "by the attorney general's deportation order, nor permit a weakening in any respect in our national unity. Now is the time, as never before, for greater production of arms and equipment for our men in the fighting forces."

Congressmen Puzzled At Bridges Order

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Congressmen today were puzzled by the order for deportation of Harry R. Bridges, Pacific coast CIO leader, and several admitted that they were unable to reconcile it with President Roosevelt's recent commutation of the sentence of Earl Browder, American Communist leader, in the interest of "national unity."

Generally they favored the order. But labor leaders and one congressman, Rep. Vito Marcantonio, America-Laborite, N. Y., denounced it as a blow to national unity and the war effort.

The United Press could find no congressman who would comment on the possible effect the action might have on relations between the United States and the Soviet Union, now allied against the Axis.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Night Letter to An Immortal.

DEAR Mr. Ziegfeld:

It's been a long time, but the street you loved and gave so much to has never forgotten you, still misses you. When musicals come to town that are glittering and lavish and beautiful, your name is spoken in the lobbies where the first nighters stroll; when critics pull sentences of praise for glamour out of their typewriters, they usually begin, "Not since Ziegeld—" When news editors ponder the scarcity of showgirls who are good copy, they mutter, "Now, when Ziegfeld was alive—"

Kilgallen

Oh, no you're not forgotten.

And it occurred to me that perhaps you'd like to know about Broadway now that America has gone to war.

* * *

You'd never know the old street, Mr. Ziegfeld. The most dated sentence in the standard Broadway line—"Stick with me, Baby, and you'll have your name in lights"—is definitely dated. Blackouts no longer have anything to do with comedy. And if there is a broken heart for every light on Broadway, I can tell you that hearts are now practically unbreakable in this town.

Remember, Mr. Ziegfeld—oh, it was years ago—when a little Milwaukee blond set the town on its ear singing a tune called "It's Getting Dark on Broadway"? Gilda Gray was her name, and of course she didn't know she was singing into the future.

It is getting dark on Broadway, Mr. Ziegfeld.

* * *

I don't suppose you've forgotten the Palais Royal on Broadway at 48th St., where Paul Whiteman was such a great hit as the King of Jazz? That site has had quite a history since those days. It became the Cotton club and lights blazed and bands blared in a brief spurt of prosperity.

Then the public chilled and the room went dark, and outside the lights went out. It stayed that way for quite a while, until George White came along with a pocketful of dreams and a truckload of mazdas. He reopened the room as the Gay White Way, and once again the building basked in the warmth of high voltage illumination. But only for a little while, because the show was a turkey. The building went black again.

It's still that way, but the darkness no longer spells failure. A fellow named Lou Walters came down from Boston, took over the site, and opened a place called the Latin Quarter. He's doing a great business, but two days after his opening the War department ordered a dimout. So once again the building is steeped in darkness from the outside. Inside however, things look brighter than they've been since the happy days of Paul Whiteman.

* * *

The bands still play "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," and when they do, people always think of you, Mr. Ziegfeld. Remember Irving Berlin, who wrote that and so many other beautiful tunes for you? Well, he hasn't changed much through the years—he's still slim and dark and rather sad-eyed, and he still writes beautiful music. He's working hard these days, doing just what he was doing during the First World war—putting on a show for Uncle Sam.

Your famous showgirl, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, is still around Broadway, still famous enough to make the columns frequently, still admired by the kind of gents who buy jewelry. Gladys Glad, whom you called "The Most Beautiful Girl in the World," hasn't changed a bit. She's still tall and blonde and placid and beautiful; and she's very happy now. Her husband, Mark Hellinger, is a big Hollywood producer, and they have adopted two sweet children, a Little Mark, and a Little Gladys.

You'll be amused to know that Jack Dempsey, who was the champ in your time, is in the restaurant business now. He has a place on Broadway, your favorite street. Recently he joined the Coast Guard, and he's waiting to be called. So for the question that is always asked him—"Do you think that in your prime you could have beaten Joe Louis"? Dempsey has a new answer now. He says, "I'll soon be in the fight with Joe. And neither of us expects to lose!"

Yes, it's getting dark on Broadway. But the memories you left—of a golden-haired girl who danced on her toes, and a sad-eyed girl who sang about a moon, and a little round-eyed fellow who made people laugh—those, Mr. Ziegfeld, are ever bright.

FORM NEW CLASS

Nurses' Aid Committee To Enroll College Girls.

Organization of a Nurses' Aid class for college girls and other young women only working part time will be started by the Nurses' Aid committee Tuesday.

This will be the third class of its kind to enroll for 80 hours of hospital training under the auspices of the Red Cross and Civilian defense.

The first class of 19 was capped and received diplomas Monday night and the second class will complete its training at Mansfield General hospital next week. Nineteen members also comprise the second class.

MOTHER OF 8 OFFERS BLOOD

WAAC Turns Her Down, So She Makes Appearance As Donor.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Mrs. Blanche Dragin, 42, the mother of eight children, was refused an application for enlistment in the Women's Army Auxiliary corps because she lacked a high school diploma. To no avail she pointed out to enlistment officers:

"I've got four children in high school, and I can do all their homework as well as they can."

Then she added with a shrug:

"As long as I'm downtown anyhow, I'll just go over to the Red Cross and give my second donation to the blood bank."

DECLARES BIDS HARD TO GET

Sours Testifies in Horvitz Suit Charging Collusion In Road Contract.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Testimony of Highway Director Hal G. Sours on the difficulty of getting bids for large road projects was recorded today in a taxpayer's suit to restrain construction of a $1,344,000 Willow Freeway underpass in Cuyahoga county.

As testimony was taken in common pleas court for the second day it appeared that hearings of the suit, filed by S. A. Horvitz, Cleveland contractor, would not be completed before the middle of next week.

Horvitz contends that the project, awarded to the Lombardo Brothers Construction company of Cleveland, Jan. 19, would serve no useful purpose; that bribes were offered a Horvitz employe for confidential information relative to bids; that non-collusion stipulations were violated and that Sours yielded to improper political influence in awarding the contract.

Sours denied that letting of the contract on only one bid showed any evidence of collusion because "it is not unusual for the highway department to award contracts, especially large ones, on single bids."

He said many of the larger firms have quit bidding on road projects and are constructing factories, airports and other defense projects because "even if they have priorities on steel, they may not be able to get materials to finish" highway jobs.

INFANT DIES

Son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gribben Succumbs at Hospital.

Suffering from a throat infection, James Frederick Gribben, 20 month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gribben, 131 West Third street, died in General hospital yesterday.

The child had been ill for only a short time.

The body was taken to Lorain, home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Maro, where funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, followed by burial there.

In addition, the child is survived by its maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Shepherd, Plymouth.

One of the forerunners of its present products was a gadget rigged up by a former pipe organist in movie theaters, for the purpose of bringing Lohengrin on to an opera stage more smoothly.

And yet the Moto-Truc company has been honored with the Navy "E" award, for excellence of production on navy contracts. It builds electrically operated loading and conveying devices.

MURRAY, OUSTED BY UMW, IMPLIES HE WILL CONTINUE TO FIGHT

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — A five-man committee of the United Mine Workers' union today studied the issues in dispute between the UMW and the Congress of Industrial organizations. But for all practical purposes the ousting of Vice President Philip Murray settled them.

It was not yet certain whether UMW President John L. Lewis will make a formal break from the CIO, which he organized seven years ago. No responsible miners' official would comment on such a possibility. But there was no doubt that further cooperation between the UMW and the CIO was impossible.

Murray, informed that the union of which he has been a member for 22 years had stripped him of his $18,000 a year job, implied that the fight was not over—that the dismissal action might be passed on by UMW members. Murray succeeded Lewis as CIO president in 1940.

He hinted, too, that any of his friends within the UMW would be welcome under the CIO banner. Pledges of personal loyalty already have been made by several UMW locals, including two of District 50 in Buffalo, N. Y., Murray said.

Whatever formal action Lewis plans will come next week after the committee studying the UMW-CIO dispute reports to the UMW's executive board and policy committee. Both are in recess until Monday.

The committee will report on:

1. Efforts of the UMW to collect $1,665,000 which it claims was loaned the CIO, and the related withholding of $30,000 per month in per capita dues by the UMW since February.

2. The charge by UMW District 50 that CIO officers were guilty of "sabotage" and "treason" against the miners.

3. The rejection of Lewis' AFL-CIO peace and unity proposal last January, termed by Murray a "Pearl Harbor stab in the back."

KILLED IN RIOT

Ecuadorian Dies, Ten Held In Melee Before Palace.

QUITO, Ecuador —(INS)— Ten persons, including two sons of a former president of Ecuador, were held by Ecuadorian authorities today as ringleaders of a group of demonstrators who attempted to break into the government palace.

One Carabineer was killed and two others wounded in an hour-long melee last night in front of the palace.

The outbreak followed a lecture delivered by one of the sons of former President Gen. Don Leonidas Plaza at the Central university. At the conclusion of the talk the students gathered in crowds to demonstrate against the settlement arrived at in the century-old border dispute between Peru and Ecuador.

SENATE VOTES M'ARTHUR DAY

Designates June 13 to Honor Philippine Defenders.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate has voted to designate June 13 as Douglas MacArthur Day — in tribute to the heroic defense of the Philippines by Gen. MacArthur, Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright and the officers and men who fought at Bataan and Corregidor.

Sen. LaFollette (Pro., Wis.) sponsored the resolution, which awaits house action.

The resolution requests President Roosevelt to issue a proclamation inviting the public to observe the day with patriotic and public exercises.

DELAYS RULING

Eastman Holds Off Order on Return Loads For Trucks.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The Office of Defense Transportation today postponed from June 1 to July 1 the effective date of orders requiring long distance trucks to load to 75 per cent of capacity on return trips.

The restriction, along with curtailment of local truck deliveries, had been ordered as a rubber-saving plan.

Director Joseph B. Eastman of the ODT, who said that the postponement would give industry more time to work out plans before the orders became effective, also announced relaxation of the local delivery restrictions.

Eastman also extended jurisdiction of general local deliveries so that trucks may make calls 25 miles beyond the corporate limits of municipalities. The first plan was to restrict them to a flat 25 miles from the store.

New Type Stove Burns Coal But Emits No Smoke

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A new type of stove that burns coal but emits no smoke whatsoever was unveiled by science today.

It looks like an overgrown garbage can and was created by the Battelle Memorial institute for the bituminous coal industry which admitted frankly it wanted to meet competition from cleaner methods of heating than the old parlor baseburner.

All they will say about the workings of the new stove is that it employs a new principle of burning; just what that is will remain a deep secret until patents are completed, the institute said.

Any type of coal may be used. It is fed into the top of the circular burner. Peering in, you see the usual amount of smoke roll off the coal, but that smoke never leaves the stove. The only residue that slips up the flue is noncombustible gas. The stove has the same old ash bed beneath, but the amount of ash is considerably less than from an old type heater.

The stove was one of several projects developed by Battelle for the coal industry. Howard R. Limbacher, an engineer who directed design of the stove, said it was about ready to be turned over to manufacturers.

BOARD ELECTS

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone. Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

WE WISH to sincerely thank our friends, neighbors and all who were so sympathetic and helpful during our recent sorrow in the loss of our darling baby, Gary Bruce. Also for the beautiful floral tributes and cards of sympathy. We wish especially to thank Rev Lester W. Beckley of Norwalk, Ohio for his earnest consoling words. Also we are grateful to Mr. Philip Wappner and his staff for their courteous and efficient service.
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parrett

Remember the Thumbs-Up Edition on Sunday, May 17th?

Here's an Important Announcement

The MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL WILL PUBLISH PICTURES AND STORIES OF RICHLAND COUNTY SERVICE MEN

(OUTSIDE GREATER MANSFIELD)

In a Special "FLAG DAY" EDITION

SUNDAY, JUNE 14th

Read These Instructions For Sending In Pictures and Stories

1. For sending in pictures and information use the coupon which is printed as a part of this announcement. The pictures sent in should, if possible, be of recent date. To print satisfactorily, the picture should be in sharp focus with no shadows across the face. Glossy prints are preferred. Pictures sent in are returnable. (If The News-Journal has already used a picture of the service man in question, this may be indicated in the coupon and the picture can be taken from the file and used again.)

2. The information about service men in the June 14th "Flag Day" Edition must be provided on the coupon blank which appears (right) with this announcement. It is probable that your son, brother or friend has been mentioned frequently in The News-Journal's column about our "Neighbors In the Service." That material will be disregarded in the "Flag Day" Edition in the interest of providing only the very latest information on every service man. Thus the blank must be filled out and forwarded to The News-Journal at once.

3. The deadline for both pictures and information for the June 14th "Flag Day" Edition is Monday, June 8th.

4. Arrangements have been made at The Mansfield News-Journal to accommodate relatives and friends wishing to send the "Flag Day" Edition to men at camp or stations abroad. Simply call at The News-Journal office, Fourth and Walnut Streets.

Fill out this coupon blank and send to the Service Editor, Mansfield News-Journal at once. Deadline is Monday, June 8, 1942.

MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL,
MANSFIELD, OHIO

Dear Service Editor: Please include an item in the "Flag Day" Edition, June 14th about:

Further Essential Information (Service Transfers or Promotions) .....
.....
PLEASE ATTACH HIS PHOTOGRAPH TO THIS COUPON (It Should Be Clear—No Shadows on Face)
Place Your Name and Address In This Space .....

☐ If service man's picture has appeared in News-Journal previously please mark with an X in box.

Remember in the interest of fairness and accuracy, The News-Journal will accept material for the "Flag Day" Edition only when sent in on this blank. Please use it if you wish your son, brother or friend in the Armed Forces to be mentioned.

(Editor's Note: While we are anxious to publish all the men's pictures, we realize that in some cases pictures are simply not available. In such instances please send the information blank anyhow and the material will be used.)

DEADLINE FOR MATERIAL AND PICTURES IS MONDAY, JUNE 8TH

America honors her... WAR HEROES

That these men shall not have died in vain—let liberty's torch be borne high to illumine the skies and earth with the light of a United Nations victory! These men—the dead of 1917 and 1918: these men—the dead of 1941 and 1942. To them, we the living, pledge anew our strength, our faith, our united effort to the point of sacrifice. For by any measure, the sacrifice we at home may be called upon to make is small indeed compared with the supreme sacrifice which they have already made for us. Freedom they fought and died for! And that freedom shall be secured by us in their memory, and for their children. That is our solemn pledge, as we join all America in honoring her war heroes on this Memorial Day, 1942.

PAM—Silly! By A. W. Brewerton

DON'T BELIEVE I'LL TELL CLARE A THING ABOUT THIS --AT LEAST, NOT TILL I'VE SEEN THAT AD!
5-29
HONESTLY, IT SEEMS SORT OF SILLY WHEN YOU COME TO THINK OF IT--ON A CROWDED STREET, A MAN BEING SO --WELL, HE REALLY SOUNDED FRIGHTENED TO ME!
SO PAM SAID NOTHING TO HER PAL ABOUT THE AFFAIR, BUT IT WAS STILL ON HER MIND WHEN SHE RETIRED!
GOODNESS! WONDER WHO IT WAS HE FEARED MIGHT TAKE THAT ENVELOPE AWAY FROM HIM?
AND I WONDER WHAT'S IN THAT ENVELOPE? GLAD I HAD A BIG ENOUGH HANDBAG TO PUT IT IN! WHEW! IT MUST HAVE BEEN AN EXTREME EMERGENCY THAT HE'D TURN IT OVER TO A STRANGER!

STOCKS SHOW TENDENCY TO MOVE HIGHER

Irregular Prices Lean To Better Territory; Gain Made By Westinghouse.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Irregularly higher tendencies ruled today's stock market transactions.

Up fractionally were Santa Fe, General Motors, Westinghouse, Goodyear, and Chesapeake & Ohio. Small declines were registered for U. S. Rubber, North American, Chrysler and Case Co.

Metal rising shares were studied in the light of a survey by Bradstreet estimating dollar retail sales throughout the country this week declined 3 to 5 per cent under a year ago. Stocks reported price ceilings had stimulated relatively little curiosity or new business.

The agency found that "the spectre of inventory restrictions continued to be an important influence on purchasing policies," with large retailers in some instances resurveying their entire inventory program preparatory to establishing an open-to-buy position.

PROBING CRASH THAT KILLED 6

Army Board Told Plane Plunged Into Side Of Mound.

LAKELAND, Fla.—(INS)—An army board of investigation today sifted through the wreckage of a B-24 bomber which crashed near Lakeland Wednesday night killing six army airmen and injuring two others.

Persons near the scene of the crash, the edge of a phosphate mining pit, said the plane was flying low and apparently was encountering engine trouble before it plunged into the side of a mound.

The dead were listed as 2nd Lieut. William A. Sims, 24, pilot, Cement, Okla.; 2nd Lieut. Lawrence R. Abrams, 24, co-pilot, Ravenswood, Ind.; 2nd Lieut. Preston R. King, 22, navigator, Leesburg, Fla.; Staff Sgt. Russell Charles Tomlinson, 30, Philadelphia; Pvt. Henry U. O'Donnell, 24, Wamego, Kans.; and Pvt. Martin Goldstein, 22, Brooklyn, N. Y.

CINCY COMES THROUGH

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Robert O. Weible, executive secretary of the Ohio "Salvage for Victory" campaign, said today that 30,000,000 pounds of scrap metals—enough to build 900 light tanks—have been collected in the Cincinnati area in less than six months.

CONVOY SLICES THROUGH SUBS

Warships Sink Three Enemy U-Boats; All Men Arrive Safely In England.

"Contact to port," they cried, giving a mathematical bearing on the submersible with the peculiar calm that veteran officers summon in a crisis.

Orders were barked from the bridge.

The destroyer wheeled out of the line of escort ships, then the little ship seemed to gather itself together and lunge into action with full steam ahead.

Tense, hard jawed men ran to their posts in answer to a general quarters signal—the battle stations alarm.

Plowing through the slight swells, the ship came fast upon the zero moment, and then, in that split second, a 28-year-old lieutenant from Dallas, Tex., pulled a lever.

There was a thud, followed by an explosion just back of the destroyer's stern, and then the churned, bubbling pyramids of waters leaped up from the region where lethal cans of dynamite exploded.

"It was a good contact," the skipper said, his voice relaxed in tone after the gruelling test was over.

During part of the mission, our sleek, battle-trim destroyer patrolled toward the rear of the convoy vessels Bluejackets called out position, "coffin corner," because assaults frequently occur at that spot Every man aboard was geared for action.

Reports from planes warned the flagship commander that more submarines were trailing the convoy.

The subs apparently were awaiting their chance to attack, but they failed to find it. Two destroyers were ordered into an extensive rear guard action.

Contacts occurred almost daily, sometimes in the gloom of foggy sunless days, often in the silent darkness of black night.

So well was the convoy protected that one skipper remarked.

"The fog is more dangerous than those subs"

The convoy finally steamed into English waters, and at this juncture every ship went on double alert for air attack.

Ready to fend off an enemy that had failed in one type of destruction and was not beyond trying another, naval ships manned their ack-ack guns, sailors donned helmets and decks were cleared for action.

The rolling shores of Scotland and Ireland soon rose from the misty horizon, though, and, as we steamed into port later in the day, a message came to the game little destroyer's captain.

It was from the flagship.

The message read: "Well done!"

GANDHI TO ACT

Plans New Movement in India But Doesn't Say What Kind.

WARDHA, India—(INS)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of India's millions of Hindus, proclaimed today that he was contemplating a new movement. He failed to reveal what he had in mind but said that plans were "floating" in his brain that he might have to do something.

Gandhi, a controlling power in the All-India congress party, then said. "That something may be very big if the congress and people are with me. British authority will have full knowledge of anything I may wish to do before I enforce it."

GERMAN TANK DRIVE DRIVEN OFF IN LIBYA

du Pacifique," made up of Frenchmen and natives from Tahiti and other French islands in the Pacific.

The RAF, constantly in action over the forward area, reported that Axis air activity was on a reduced scale. RAF raids were made on enemy airdromes behind the lines and on vehicles in the field.

British headquarters indicated the outcome of the tank battle still was in doubt, but reported that smashing blows were being dealt the extended Axis communication lines by roving armored patrols.

The heaviest fighting was said to be centering around Knightsbridge, junction of a series of desert trails barely 15 miles southwest of Tobruk.

It was there, a communique said, that the two Axis columns united after racing around the British left flank at Bir Hacheim, 50 miles southwest of Tobruk.

Military experts said the situation was potentially dangerous for both sides.

Experts said "everything depends" on the great tank battle now raging.

(Communiques of both the German and Italian high commands mentioned the fighting in Libya for the first time today. The Italians said a spring offensive had been launched and was proceeding favorably for Axis troops The Germans acknowledged fierce fighting in progress since Tuesday.)

Chinese Continue To Hold Kinwha

BULLETIN

CHUNGKING—(UP)—Chinese forces have re-captured 10 points on the outskirts of the Hupeh city of Ichang, important Japanese base in China's interior, and have inflicted heavy losses on the enemy on the Chekiang and Yunnan battlefronts, a communique reported tonight.

CHUNGKING—(INS)—Embattled Chinese defenders of the strategic city of Kinhwa were still holding the strongly fortified town against superior Japanese armies, according to reports today from the East China battle front. The invaders, said to have lost more than 13,000 men in the so far futile assaults on Kinhwa, were declared to have brought up 10,000 reinforcements.

In an effort to isolate Kinhwa the Japanese were attacking nearby towns on the main rail line running south from Hangchow. A Chinese comunique said an assault on Lanchi, 12 miles northwest of Kinhwa, had been repulsed with 1,000 casualties.

(Tokyo claimed capture of Lanchi on Wednesday.)

Jap Airfields Fired By U. S. Fliers

NEW DELHI—(INS)—Additional bombings of Japanese bases in Burma, one of which set fires visible a hundred miles away, were reported today in a communique from the U. S Army Airforce headquarters in New Delhi, under command of Maj Gen. Lewis H. Brereton. Attacks were carried out Monday on the Jap-held airport at Mingaladon in North Burma, on a power station at Rangoon and on river craft near Rangoon.

The power station was set afire and the flames were still seen when the American bombers were 100 miles away on the return trip to their bases in India.

The three American squadrons encountered Japanese night fighters and heavy ground fire, but all planes returned to their bases, although some were slightly damaged, the communique said.

Allies Continue Air Raids Over Lae

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA—(INS)—Continuing their offensives against Japanese-held bases to the north, United Nations bomber squadrons raided enemy airports at Lae, New Guinea, and Rabaul, New Britain, destroying four Japanese planes and damaging others, today's communique reported Three United Nations planes were lost in the day's fighting.

A formation of 20 Zero fighters attacked the United Nations base at Port Moresby, New Guinea, and a heavy force of fighters went up to intercept them. In a series of fierce dogfights over the southern New Guinea port, two enemy planes were shot down and others damaged.

Two United Nations fighters were lost in this battle.

In the attack on Lae United Nations bombers scored hits on the airfield installations inflicting heavy damage. A force of Zeros attempted to intercept the United Nations squadron and two were shot down and others damaged. One United Nations bomber was lost over Lae.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

At State Meeting—Sheriff Frank E. Robinson was in Columbus today to attend a meeting of the Buckeye State Sheriffs' association. The sheriffs were scheduled to discuss their part as enforcement officers in the war program.

Tools Stolen—F. E. Rosin, custodian at Mansfield Memorial park, had reported to the sheriff's office today the theft of tools valued at $19 from a shed at the park. Included in the missing articles were two saws, a set of wrenches, and a drill.

Clinic Gains—Dr. William B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said today that the regular well-baby clinic held yesterday at the municipal building was one of the most successful in several months. Twenty mothers attended and conferred with Dr. Mabel Emery and Miss Jane Gorsuch, district nutritionist. In the past, less than 10 mothers attended the clinic sessions, he said.

Drivers Arrested—Two Mansfield drivers were arrested on speeding charges early today, one by city police and the other by state highway patrolmen. Melvin L. Schmid, 111
